

ACTION GUIDE – FOR DIGITAL MENTAL HEALTH SERVICE PROVIDERS

Clinical and Technical Governance Standard:

Privacy

It is essential to ensure that all information collected by a digital mental health service remains private and secure. A privacy breach can cause serious harm to service users, including significant personal distress. Service users have a right to know that a provider has considered the privacy impacts of any information they are collecting and storing, the sensitivity of the information and how the personal information will be handled.

Privacy is protected by the Privacy Act 1988 which outlines the Australian privacy principles (APP) for protecting personal information and the action to be taken if there is a data breach in an organisation. The Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) is responsible for promoting and upholding the privacy rights of Australians via the Privacy Act.

All entities covered by the Privacy Act are required to have a privacy policy which includes:

- The kinds of personal information collected and stored
- How the information is collected and where it is stored
- Why the personal information is being collected
- How the information will be used and disclosed
- How someone can access their personal information or ask for it be corrected.

ACTIONS IN THE NSQDMH STANDARDS

Privacy is safeguarded via a number of actions in the National Safety and Quality Digital Mental Health (NSQDMH) Standards, as part of the Clinical and Technical Governance Standard. The relevant actions are:

- Actions 1.16 and 1.17, concerning the safety and security of healthcare records
- Action 1.28, conducting a Privacy Impact Assessment (PIA)
- Action 1.29, ensuring service providers have privacy policies in place
- Action 1.30, requiring providers to advise users when a privacy policy has changed
- Action 1.31, ensuring service providers have appropriate systems in place to manage data and that the use of data is transparent to service users.

Action 1.35 is also important – this requires providers to ensure they have an information security management system in place that protects the security and stability of the service.

Top tip: For guidance on how to write a privacy policy see the OAIC's Guide to developing an APP privacy policy.

The Necessity of Theater Paul Woodruff, 2008-04-30 What is unique and essential about theater What separates it from other arts Do we need theater in some fundamental way The art of theater as Paul Woodruff says in this elegant and unique book is as necessary and as powerful as language itself Defining theater broadly including sporting events and social rituals he treats traditional theater as only one possibility in an art that at its most powerful can change lives and as some peoples believe bring a divine presence to earth The Necessity of Theater analyzes the unique power of theater by separating it into the twin arts of watching and being watched practiced together in harmony by watchers and the watched Whereas performers practice the art of being watched making their actions worth watching and paying attention to action choice plot character mimesis and the sacredness of performance space audiences practice the art of watching paying close attention A good audience is emotionally engaged as spectators their engagement takes a form of empathy that can lead to a special kind of human wisdom As Plato implied theater cannot teach us transcendent truths but it can teach us about ourselves Characteristically thoughtful probing and original Paul Woodruff makes the case for theater as a unique form of expression connected to our most human instincts The Necessity of Theater should appeal to anyone seriously interested or involved in theater or performance more broadly
