Figure 1-16 is a drawing of a longitudinal section of the femur. Within the femur, there is a large, dark, oval-shaped region in the center, which is the medullary cavity. The surrounding region is the compact bone. The compact bone is composed of many small, circular units called osteons. Each osteon has a central canal called the Haversian canal. The Haversian canal is surrounded by a layer of bone called the lamella. The lamella are arranged in concentric circles around the Haversian canal. The Haversian canal is connected to the blood supply in the marrow cavity by a network of blood vessels called the vascular system.
