A Dissected Rabbit Showing Internal Organs:

Mammalian Reproduction Heinz Gibian, E.J. Plotz, 2012-12-06 It is two years since a general meeting of the Gesellschaft für Biologische Chemie first requested us to organize the 21st Mosbach Colloquium on mammalian reproduction and one year since we received final authorization to do so. The present volume contains the papers read at the Colloquium but the discussions have been omitted because writing and proof reading them would have delayed the appearance of this volume for an unjustifiable long time. Besides in most cases the discussion was of a relatively specific nature and we did not consider it essential bearing in mind that the purpose of the Mosbach Colloquium is to provide advanced further education for the non specialist. One of us has referred to this and to the topical structure of the 21st Colloquium in the introductory and final remarks. Helpful suggestions for organizing the program were made by some of the invited speakers but the first important impulses VON BERSWORDT WALLRABE Dr ELGER Dr came from Dr GERHARDS Dr NEUMANN and Dr UFER to whom we here wish express our thanks. Thanks are also due to those whose donations some of which were very generous made it financially possible to organize the Colloquium. Advances in Post-Translational Modifications of Proteins and Aging V. Zappia, 2013-12-11 This volume contains 56 contributions presented at the 1st International Symposium on Post Translational Modifications of Proteins and Ageing held on the Island of Ischia Naples Italy from May 11 to 15 1987 under the auspices of the University of Naples and the Italian Society of Biochemistry. The primary aim of this interdisciplinary meeting was to promote a productive exchange among scientists from different cultural areas and to give them the opportunity to discuss problems of common interest approached from different scientific standpoints. Although a large number of studies has led to a definition of the chemical mechanisms and of the main enzymological aspects of the several post translational modifications of proteins we are still far away from a complete elucidation of the functional significance of such processes. As a matter of fact it seems reasonable that the presently available experimental approaches and models employed to investigate the biological roles are still inadequate. The search for suitable model systems was a matter of discussion during the meeting and will be a major challenge in the future. The most frequently employed approaches to this problem thus far have been in vitro but several proteins reported to be excellent in vitro substrates failed to show any activity when assayed in in vivo models.
