Above Zimsec 2014 June Exam Time Table:

Discretionary maize policy interventions in Malawi Edelman, Brent, 2016-07-28 This study assesses the efficacy of maize export bans in improving food security in Malawi and of minimum farm gate prices in increasing the incomes of Malawian smallholder farmers. It relies primarily on price and trade flow analysis using secondary data. In brief the analysis shows that neither tool has been particularly effective in recent years in achieving their stated policy objectives. On the contrary both maize export bans and minimum farm gate prices have been mostly non binding or even counterproductive in their effects.

Gender and Climate Change Joane Nagel, 2015-09-25 Does gender matter in global climate change? This timely and provocative book takes readers on a guided tour of basic climate science then holds up a gender lens to find out what has been overlooked in popular discussion research and policy debates. We see that around the world more women than men die in climate related natural disasters. The history of science and war are intimately interwoven. Masculine occupations and preoccupations and conservative men and their interests drive the climate change denial machine. We also see that climate policymakers who embrace big science approaches and solutions to climate change are predominantly male with an ideology of perpetual economic growth and an agenda that marginalizes the interests of women and developing economies. The book uses vivid case studies to highlight the sometimes surprising differential gendered impacts of climate changes.
