K. Daniel O'Leary, PhD, Roland D. Maiuro, PhD, 2001 This volume addresses the importance of measuring psychological abuse and shows that psychological aggression can be reliably measured Part I identifies measurement issues and contains several scales and inventories for measuring psychological maltreatment Part II discusses the interpersonal dynamics with specific populations including battered women low income women and African American women This remains an important resource in the field of domestic violence Girls' and Women's Wellness Laura Hensley Choate, Kim Anderson, 2008 Comprehensive in scope and practical in execution this guide includes strategies examples assessment methods workshop outlines and handouts for clients Choate counselor education Louisiana State U and her contributors focus on both short term and long term solutions as they address body image managing conflict and anger cognitive models to improve self esteem women's college experiences life balance for working women intervention against sexual assault and intimate partner violence Especially interesting is their approach to counseling women about spirituality Unlike many counselors they allow for the positive influence of organized faith and for individual perceptions and choices within a range of faiths or combinations of faiths They also give online and print resources for every topic Substance

Abuse Treatment and Domestic Violence Patricia Anne Fazzone, 1997 clients Child abuse and neglect elder abuse women's abuse of men and domestic violence within same sex relationships are important issues that are not addressed in depth in this document largely because each requires separate comprehensive review Other patterns of domestic violence outside the scope of this TIP are abused women who in turn abuse their children or react violently to their partners continued attacks and adult or teenage children who abuse their parents Researchers have found that one fourth to one half of men who commit acts of domestic violence also have substance abuse problems Gondolf 1995 Leonard and Jacob 1987 Kantor and Straus 1987 Coleman and Straus 1983 Hamilton and Collins 1981 Pernanen 1976 and that a sizable percentage of convicted batterers were raised by parents who abused drugs or alcohol Bureau of Justice Statistics 1994 Studies also show that women who abuse alcohol and other drugs are more likely to be victims of domestic violence Miller et al 1989 The primary purpose of this document is to provide the substance abuse treatment field with an overview of domestic violence so that providers can understand the particular needs and behaviors of batterers and survivors as defined above and tailor treatment plans accordingly. This requires an understanding not only of clients' issues but also of when it is necessary to seek help from domestic violence experts. The TIP also may prove useful to domestic violence support workers whose clients suffer from substance-related problems. As the TIP makes clear, each field can benefit enormously from the expertise of the other, and cooperation and sharing of knowledge will pave the way for the more coordinated system of care discussed in Chapter 6. Future publications will examine those aspects of the problem that concern such special populations as adolescent

Handbook on Sensitive Practice for Health Care Practitioners Candice Schachter, 2008. This handbook is designed to help health care practitioners address the needs of adult survivors of childhood sexual abuse. It provides background information about childhood sexual abuse and illustrates how childhood sexual abuse can adversely affect health care encounters with all types of health care providers. The principles and guidelines of Sensitive Practice presented in the Handbook are the product of dialogue between survivors and health care practitioners and outline comprehensive practical suggestions that all health care practitioners can incorporate into their clinical practice.

Women and Gender Janice D. Yoder, 2003. Well grounded in research, this accessible text presents psychology as it has been transformed and is being transformed by the inclusion of women in the discipline. It discusses the changes that a feminist vision of psychology has made in everything from the methods used to the topics being studied until ultimately the students' views of psychology and themselves are transformed.
