

2. From the following contour map answer the following questions: (4 points each: 1 for the answer (Y/N) and 3 for work and explanation, Total 16 points)

a. Can a person at point X see a person at point Y?

No, because the position where person at point X is, is lower in elevation than what is in front of him/her. Same applies to person at point Y. There are two mountains and a hill blocking them from seeing each other.

b. Can a person at point Y see a person at point D?

No, because the position on point Y is lower in elevation than point D and also in front of point Y a ridge is blocking the view in front of person Y.

c. Can a person at point D see a person at point X?

Yes, because the person on point D has higher elevation than person on point X and the person on point D has nothing blocking his view of him.

d. Can a person at point C see a person at point Y?

No, the person on point C at the elevation of zero has a mountain with a plateau in front of him thus he cannot see and will have a blocked view since person at point Y is behind the water divide.
