The Politics of Industrial Agriculture

Tracey Clunies-Ross,Nicholas Hildyard,2013-11-05 In the last forty years agriculture in the industrialised countries has undergone a revolution That has dramatically increased yields but it has also led to extensive rural depopulation widespread degradation of the environment contamination of food with agrochemicals and bacteria more routine maltreatment of farm animals and the undermining of Third World economies and livelihoods through unfair trading systems Confronted by mounting evidence of environmental harm and social impacts mainstream agronomists and policy makers have debatedly recognized the need for change Sustainable agricultutre has become the buzz phrase But that can mean different things to different people We have to ask sustainable agriculture for whom Whose interests are benefiting And whose are suffering At issue is the question of power of who controls the land and what it produces Most of the changes currently under discussion will actually strengthen the status quo and the underlying causes of the damage The result will be greater intensification of farming environmental destruction and inequality There are no simple off the shelf alternatives to industrial agriculture There are however groups throughout the world who have contributed to this report and who are working together on a new approach An agriculture

Feeding Britain Tim Lang,2020-03-26 How does Britain get its food Why is our current system at breaking point How can we fix it before it is too late British food has changed remarkably in the last half century As we have become wealthier and more discerning our food has Europeanized pizza is children s favourite food and internationalized we eat the world s cuisines yet our food culture remains fragmented a mix of mass ultra processed substances alongside food as varied and good as anywhere else on the planet This book takes stock of the UK food system where it comes from what we eat its impact fragilities and strengths It is a book on the politics of food It argues that the Brexit vote will force us to review our food system Such an opportunity is sorely needed After a brief frenzy of concern following the financial shock of 2008 the UK government has slumped once more into a vague hope that the food system will keep going on as before Food they said just required a burst of agri technology and more exports to pay for our massive imports Feeding Britain argues that this and other approaches are short sighted against the public interest and possibly even strategic folly Setting a new course for UK food is no easy task but it is a process this book urges that needs to begin now Tim Lang has performed a public service
