A Density Of Souls:

A Density of Souls Christopher Rice, 2001-08-22 Take the sensuous fecund New Orleans setting add a generous helping of tangled Southern family history and season liberally with a sensitive teenage boy rejected by his friends and frightened of his own homoerotic impulses and you wouldn't be surprised to discover that the novel containing all of the above was written by someone named Rice. But a few paragraphs into the first page it's clear that Anne Rice's son's first novel isn't about vampires or witches and does not otherwise read like one of her exceedingly popular books. The only family resemblance is in the setting the sexual orientation of the lovingly described male characters and the scent of overripe magnolias. There's murder, suicide and madness at the heart of this rather clumsy coming of age story which focuses on the youthful friendship of Stephen Conlin, Meredith Ducote, Greg Darby and Brandon Charbonnet. This friendship is destroyed by a sexual incident that takes place just before the foursome enters Cannon, an exclusive prep school. There Stephen is ostracized by his former friends now the most popular kids on campus who'd just as soon forget their own complicity in the event. Envy, passion and rage drive the narrative but the emotions are as juvenile as the characters and the long passages depicting the rituals and cruelties of high school from pep rallies to football games slow down the pace without really illuminating character or motivation. The novel reads like a roman clef. Rice might have been wiser to tell someone else's story rather than his own.

Jane Adams    Spiritual Theory of Everything Thomas Vazhakunnathu, Spiritual Theory of Everything is the outcome of my seeking to find answers to the fundamental questions of life from a spiritual and scientific perspective in a holistic way. It explains the origin, nature, evolution, purpose and destiny of life and the universe and also contains topics like the fundamental particle, soul, mind, spirit, chakras, cosmic laws, densities or dimensions, spiritual development, reincarnation, karma, natural living, planetary changes, etc. This book shows that we are the cause we own and create our life and the conditions or circumstances in our life are the effects and when we awaken or transform or evolve then our circumstances must also change so as to be in alignment with our vibrations. It also shows how we can live naturally or live in alignment with the natural processes, laws and flow of life and experience a healthy, happy and peaceful life.
