WRITING A POSITION PAPER

Like a debate, a position paper presents one side of an arguable opinion about an issue. A position paper should convince the audience that your opinion is valid and defensible. It is important to support your argument with evidence, as well as to refute the counterclaims to show that you are well informed about both sides.

Issue Criteria

To take a side on a subject, you should first establish the arguability of a topic that interests you. To present a strong argument, ask yourself:

- Is it a real issue, with real controversy?
- Are you personally interested in advocating one of these positions?
- Is the scope of the issue narrow enough to be manageable?
- Do you have enough material or proof to support your opinion?
- Does your topic assert something specific? Prove it, and where applicable, propose a plan of action.

Organization - Sample Outline

I. Introduction

A. Introduce the topic

B. Provide background on the topic to explain why it is important

Your introduction has a dual purpose: to indicate both the topic and your approach to it (your thesis statement), and to arouse your reader's interest in what you have to say. One effective way of introducing a topic is to place it in context – to supply a kind of backdrop that will put it in perspective.

II. Summary of the original article

Go over its main points, be brief, stay on the surface. Do not forget to use signposting and linking words for better orientation in the text. It is important to stress the main ideas to prepare the ground for your own argumentation in the next part of the paper.

III. Assert the thesis (your view of the issue).

Present each argument fairly and objectively, rather than trying to make it look foolish. You want to show that you have seriously considered the many sides of the issue, and that you are not simply attacking or mocking your opponents. Give your educated and informed opinion and provide support/proof preferably justifying it by using some references to good-quality sources related to the field in question.
