Al Schools Spring Break 2014:

The Politics of White Rights Joseph Bagley, 2018-12-15 In The Politics of White Rights Joseph Bagley recounts the history of school desegregation litigation in Alabama focusing on the malleability and durability of white resistance. He argues that the litigious battles of 1954-73 taught Alabama's segregationists how to fashion a more subtle defense of white privilege placing them in the vanguard of a new conservatism oriented toward the Sunbelt not the South. Scholars have recently begun uncovering the ways in which segregationists abandoned violent backlash and overt economic reprisal and learned how to rearticulate their resistance and blind others to their racial motivations. Bagley is most interested in a creedal commitment to maintaining law and order which lay at the heart of this transition. Before it was a buzz phrase meant to conjure up fears of urban black violence law and order represented a politics that allowed self-styled white moderates to begrudgingly accept token desegregation and to begin to stake their own claims to constitutional rights without forcing them to repudiate segregation or white supremacy. Federal courts have as recently as 2014 agreed that Alabama's property tax system is crippling black education. Bagley argues that this is because in the late 1960s the politics of law and order became a politics of white rights which supported not only white flight to suburbs and private schools but also nominally color-blind changes in the state's tax code. These changes were designed to shield white money from the needs of increasingly black public education. Activists and courts have been powerless to do anything about them because twenty years of desperate litigious combat finally taught Alabama lawmakers how to erect constitutional bulwarks that could withstand a legal assault.

Women's Lives Claire A. Etaugh, Judith S. Bridges, 2017-10-16 This cutting edge and comprehensive fourth edition of Women's Lives: A Psychological Perspective integrates the most current research and social issues to explore the psychological diversity of girls and women varying in age, ethnicity, social class, nationality, sexual orientation, and ableness. Written in an engaging and accessible manner, its use of vignettes, quotes, and numerous pedagogical tools effectively fosters students' engagement, active learning, critical thinking, and social activism. New information covered includes neoliberal feminism, standpoint theory, mujerista psychology, Chapter 1: LGBT individuals and individuals with disabilities in media, Chapter 2: testosterone testing of female athletes, precarious manhood, Chapter 3: raising a gender non conforming child, impact of social media on body image, Chapter 4: gender differences in narcissism and Big Five personality traits, women video game designers, Chapter 5: asexuality, transgender individuals, sexual agency, Viagra for women controversy, Chapter 6: adoption of frozen embryos controversy, Chapter 7: intensive mothering, integrated motherhood, living apart together, same sex marriage, Chapter 8: single sex schooling controversy, Chapter 9: combat roles opened to U.S. women, managerial derailment, Chapter 10: work hours dilemmas of low wage workers, Chapter 11: feminist health care model, health care for transgender individuals, Affordable Care Act, Chapter 12: feminist critique of CDC guidelines on women and drinking, Chapter 13: cyberharassment, gender-trolling, campus sexual assault, Chapter 14: transnational feminism, men and feminism, Chapter 15.

Women's Lives stands apart from other texts on the psychology of women because it embeds within each topical chapter a lifespan approach and robust coverage of the impact of social cultural and economic factors in shaping women's lives around the world. It provides extensive information on women with disabilities, middle aged and older women and women in transnational contexts. Its up to date coverage reflects current scientific and social developments including over 2 200 new references. This edition also adds several new boxed features for student engagement. In The News boxes present current often controversial news items to get students thinking critically about real life applications of course topics. Get Involved boxes encourage students to actively participate in the research process. What You Can Do boxes give students applied activities to promote a more egalitarian society. Learn About the Research boxes expose students to a variety of research methods and highlight the importance of diversity in research samples by including studies of underrepresented groups.

When Race Trumps Merit Heather Mac Donald, 2023-04-18 Does your workplace have too few black people in top jobs. It's racist. Does the advanced math and science high school in your city have too many Asians. It's racist. Does your local museum employ too many white women. It's racist too. After the Black Lives Matter protests of 2020, prestigious American institutions from the medical profession to the fine arts pleaded guilty to systemic racism. How else explain why blacks are overrepresented in prisons and underrepresented in C suites and faculty lounges their leaders asked. The official answer for those disparities is disparate impact a once obscure legal theory that is now transforming our world. Any traditional standard of behavior or achievement that impedes exact racial proportionality in any enterprise is now presumed racist. Medical school admissions tests expectations of scientific accomplishment in the award of research grants the enforcement of the criminal law all are under assault because they have a disparate impact on underrepresented minorities. When Race Trumps Merit provides an alternative explanation for those racial disparities. It is large academic skills gaps that cause the lack of proportional representation in our most meritocratic organizations and large differences in criminal offending that account for the racially disproportionate prison population. The need for such a corrective argument could not be more urgent. Federal science agencies now treat researchers skin color as a scientific qualification. Museums and orchestras choose which art and music to promote based on race. Police officers avoid making arrests and prosecutors decline to bring charges to avoid disparate impact on minority criminals. When Race Trumps Merit breaks powerful taboos. But it is driven by a sense of alarm supported by detailed case studies of how disparate impact thinking is jeopardizing scientific progress, destroying public order and poisoning the appreciation of art and culture. As long as alleged racism remains the only allowable explanation for racial differences we will continue tearing down excellence and putting lives as well as civilizational achievement at risk.
