

An aerial photograph of a mining site. On the left, a massive pile of dark, granular material, likely tailings or waste rock, rises steeply. In the center, a large, dark rectangular pond is surrounded by industrial structures, including a tall, multi-story metal frame building and several smaller tanks. A dirt road or conveyor belt runs along the base of the tailings pile. The surrounding landscape is a mix of green vegetation and brown earth, with a bright blue sky and scattered white clouds above.
