Evolution Richard Benz,2000 Many of the ideas in this volume appeared in an earlier version in The Galapagos JASON Curriculum 1991 by the National Science Teachers Association Invasive and Introduced Plants and Animals Ian D. Rotherham, Robert A. Lambert, 2012-12-06 There have been many well publicized cases of invasive species of plants and animals often introduced unintentionally but sometimes on purpose causing widespread ecological havoc Examples of such alien invasions include pernicious weeds such as Japanese knotweed an introduced garden ornamental which can grow through concrete the water hyacinth which has choked tropical waterways and many introduced animals which have outcompeted and displaced local fauna This book addresses the broader context of invasive and exotic species in terms of the perceived threats and environmental concerns which surround alien species and ecological invasions As a result of unprecedented scales of environmental change combined with rapid globalisation the mixing of cultures and diversity and fears over biosecurity and bioterrorism the known impacts of particular invasions have been catastrophic However as several chapters show reactions to some exotic species and the justifications for interventions in certain situations including biological control by introduced natural enemies rest uncomfortably with social reactions to ethnic cleansing and persecution perpetrated across the globe The role of democracy in deciding and determining environmental policy is another emerging issue In an increasingly multicultural society this raises huge questions of ethics and choice At the same time in order to redress major ecological losses the science of reintroduction of native species has also come to the fore and is widely accepted by many in nature conservation However with questions of where and when and with what species or even species analogues reintroductions are acceptable the topic is hotly debated Again it is shown that many decisions are based on values and perceptions rather than objective science Including a wide range of case studies from around the world his book raises critical issues to stimulate a much wider debate

Biological Education ,1993 Varieties of Political Experience Gianfranco Poggi,2024-08-22 The management of contemporary public affairs involves many different centres of social power engaged in complex and mutable relations ranging from willing cooperation to competition to out and out conflict This book emphasises the role played in these relations by political institutions in particular Generally these claim a special competence to authorise and regulate the activities of other institutions but their claim is often contested by other power centres serving different and sometimes contrasting interests To explore those processes the author after identifying the nature of the political considers its dealings with other forms of social power Among these economic power gets particular attention in view of the contemporary salience of the state vs market issue But this book also considers the relations between politics at one end and law the public sphere citizenship and religion at the other

Universities as Centres of Research and Knowledge Creation: An Endangered Species? ,2008-01-01 Today unprecedented emphasis is being placed on research as key motor for advancing the knowledge society and its offspring the knowledge economy Consequently research on the state of research has moved high on the priority agendas for governments for their specialized agencies and bodies devoted to this area and for higher education institutions. Against this background the central premise of the 2006 Global Colloquium of the UNESCO Forum for Higher Education Research and Knowledge Universities as Centres of Research and Knowledge Creation An Endangered Species was that research is a key ingredient in the institutional identity of universities and an indispensable prerequisite for a successful programme of teaching and public service. Based on contributions to this Colloquium authors from twenty countries from all regions of the world analyse aspects related to the research function of universities. This book primarily addresses the variety and gaps in higher education across the globe concentrating on the challenges to transitional and developing countries. It addresses the related issues of research capacity, research productivity and research relevance and utility. Research capacity appears as a necessary but not sufficient condition for research productivity and research productivity must be assessed in terms of utility and relevance. This volume provides a global range of insights both for policy makers and for higher education and research communities.

Intensive Livestock Production in Transition Barbara Grabkowsky, Thomas Blaha, 2025-11-21 Areas of intensive livestock production are currently facing a significant transformation process. In the context of climate change, the planetary boundaries, political conflicts and crises as well as a growing population, sustainable, effective and resilient agrifood systems need to be established. To achieve this goal, society, politics, the economy, agriculture and science are equally challenged. Only with a holistic, systemic and participatory strategy, a transformation of the existing system can be achieved. This book analyses the current transition processes as well as its drivers and barriers and gives examples for new integrated strategies, concepts, business models and developments for the livestock sector. Finally, the book indicates fields of action for the establishment of sustainable livestock farming. The book will appeal to stakeholders in science, society, economy, policy, agricultural industry, stakeholders in veterinary practice and agriculture.

The Millennium Ecosystem Assessment scored 74 response options for dealing with declines in ecosystem services and biodiversity and managing drivers such as climate change and nutrient loading. This third volume in the MA series analyzes the track record of past policies and the potential of new ones. The challenge of reversing the degradation of ecosystems while meeting increasing demands for their services can be met only with significant policy and institutional changes. However, a difficult set of obstacles stand in the way. Policy makers must keep in mind that there are both trade offs and synergies between human well-being, ecosystems and ecosystem services and that decisions regarding these tradeoffs are difficult and often contentious. The Responses volume ultimately establishes which policy options have the greatest chance to overcome the obstacles and generate positive outcomes. It will serve as an invaluable guide to the creation of stronger policy.
