2014 April Geography Question Paper:

Planning for an innovation district Sara Lawrence, Michael Hogan, Elizabeth Grace Brown, 2019-02-13 Innovation districts are physical spaces that serve to strengthen the foundations and institutions of an innovation ecosystem. The design, implementation, and management of formalized innovation districts is a new practice area. Research draws upon the experience of concentrated areas of innovation that occurred organically such as Boston's Route 128 as well as intentional projects to bring together innovators in large science and technology parks such as North Carolina's Research Triangle Park. Existing research focuses on how to define and design innovation districts and evaluate their impact as well as general policy considerations. In this paper, we review the definitions and benefits of an innovation district, reviewing the existing empirical research on their impacts. We then propose a series of questions to guide practitioners in addressing the economic, physical, social, and governance elements of an innovation district. Finally, we outline some of the challenges in creating an innovation district and ways to measure progress to allow practitioners to get ahead of potential issues in the future. This paper is intended to help policymakers and practitioners working in innovation and economic development translate the concepts of innovation ecosystems into actionable next steps for planning innovation districts in their communities. Learning to Teach Geography in the Secondary School Mary Biddulph, David Lambert, David Balderstone, 2020-12-07 Learning to Teach Geography in the Secondary School has become the widely recommended textbook for student and new teachers of geography. It helps you acquire a deeper understanding of the role, purpose, and potential of geography within the secondary curriculum and provides the practical skills needed to design, teach, and evaluate stimulating and challenging lessons. It is grounded in the notion of social justice and the idea that all students are entitled to a high-quality geography education. The very practical dimension provides you with support structures through which you can begin to develop your own philosophy of teaching and debate key questions about the nature and purpose of the subject in school. Thoroughly updated to take account of the latest research evidence and policy, this new edition reflects new developments in technology as well as current thinking on curriculum, pedagogy, and assessment. Exploring the fundamentals of teaching and learning geography in school, chapters cover: Why we teach geography, its purposes and intent; Understanding and planning the curriculum; what to teach; Effective pedagogy; how to teach; Inclusion; Assessment; Developing and using resources; Fieldwork and outdoor learning; Values and school geography's contribution to citizenship; Professional development. Intended as a core textbook and written with both university and school-based initial teacher education in mind, Learning to Teach Geography is essential reading for all those who aspire to become able, effective, and above all, thoughtful and reflective teachers. Refugees in Extended Exile Jennifer Hyndman, Wenona Giles, 2016-10-04 This book argues that the international refugee regime and its temporary humanitarian interventions have failed. Most refugees across the globe live in protracted conditions that extend from years to decades without legal status that allows them to work and establish a home. It is contended that they become largely invisible to people based in the global North and cease to remain fully human subjects with access to their political lives Shifting the conversation away from the salient discourse of solutions and technical fixes within state centric international relations the authors recover the subjectivity lost for those stuck in extended exile The book first argues that humanitarian assistance to refugees remains vital to people s survival even after the emergency phase is over It then connects asylum politics in the global North with the intransigence of extended exile in the global South By placing the urgent crises of protracted exile within a broader constellation of power relations both historical and geographical the authors present research and empirical findings gleaned from refugees in Iran Kenya and Canada and from humanitarian and government workers Each chapter reveals patterns of power circulating through the colonial present Cold War legacies and the global war on terror Seeking to render legible the more quotidian struggles and livelihoods of people who find themselves defined as refugees this book will be of great interest to international humanitarian agencies as well as migration and refugee researchers including scholars in refugee studies and human displacement human security globalization immigration and human rights

Atlas of Religion in China: Social and Geographical Contexts Fenggang Yang, 2018-09-04 The speed and the scale with which traditional religions in China have been revived and new spiritual movements have emerged in recent decades make it difficult for scholars to stay up to date on the religious transformations within Chinese society This unique atlas presents a bird s eye view of the religious landscape in China today In more than 150 full color maps and six different case studies it maps the officially registered venues of China s major religions Buddhism Christianity Protestant and Catholic Daoism and Islam at the national provincial and county levels The atlas also outlines the contours of Confucianism folk religion and the Mao cult Further it describes the main organizations beliefs and rituals of China s main religions as well as the social and demographic characteristics of their respective believers Putting multiple religions side by side in their contexts this atlas deploys the latest qualitative quantitative and spatial data acquired from censuses surveys and fieldwork to offer a definitive overview of religion in contemporary China An essential resource for all scholars and students of religion and society in China
