The Department of State Bulletin, 1954 The First Atomic Bomb Jim Mangi, 2022-06-20 While German and Japanese scientists also labored unsuccessfully to create an atomic bomb by the summer of 1945 the American led team was ready to test its first weapon As the clock ticked down to the detonation time of 05 30 hours on 16 July 1945 the nervous team of technicians and scientists waited ten miles away from Ground Zero deep in the New Mexico desert No one knew how powerful the explosion would be or whether even at such a distance they would be safe from the blast Even so some chose to observe the detonation from a point four miles nearer at the control bunker but then no one was even sure that the bomb would work What if that is actually what happened Under schedule pressure from the White House the scientists assembled the device in part with tape and tissue paper knowing some components were flawed These are verifiable facts It means that as many of those who gathered in the New Mexico desert feared at the time the bomb might not have worked during that first test In The First Atomic Bomb Jim Mangi explores what might have happened in the event that the world s first atomic bomb had not been ready for use when it was How would this have affected the end of the war in the Pacific and indeed the Second World War as a whole Would Emperor Hirohito's armed forces have battled on When might Colonel Paul W Tibbets at the controls of his Boeing B 29 Superfortress Enola Gay have then made his historic flight over Hiroshima and would that city even have remained the target How would Stalin and the Soviets have reacted to such developments and how would this have played out in the post war world

Women's Work Jennifer Moore,2025-03-11 When women have full socioeconomic citizenship as well as equitable and respectful partnerships with men transformative justice can be sustained in postconflict societies

In Women's Work Jennifer Moore presents a reimagined theory of peacebuilding and transformative justice based on the experiences and insights of women farmers and microentrepreneurs who lived through protracted civil conflicts drawing on seven years of interviews with women activists across ten communities five in the Acholi region of Northern Uganda and five in the Moyamba and Koinadugu Districts of Sierra Leone

Despite the important differences between the preconflict and conflict histories and demographics of the two countries Moore finds commonalities in the practical yet visionary approaches to community life emerging from the core values daily activities and long range goals shared by rural cooperative members in both regions

Collective survival communal healing and conflict resolution define the rhythm of these women's daily lives as they go about building peace piecemeal They reject punitive retribution models and demand instead a peacebuilding model that advocates for advances in material well being the acknowledgment of state accountability for community suffering and reconciliation and restoration of community networks

But most important Moore amplifies these women's voices when they insist that legal equality for women and healthy partnerships between women and men are also essential components to enduring transformation of their societies

Moore theorizes what peacebuilding look like if it were modeled on these women led matriarchically structured communities that proved not only to be effective at holding governments accountable but also to have the capacity to feed their people and revitalize their local economies

Women's Work shows that when women have full socioeconomic citizenship as well as equitable and respectful partnerships with men transformative justice can be sustained through the arts of collective livelihood violence free conflict management and celebration

Museums and Social Responsibility Kevin Coffee,2022-12-23 Museums and Social Responsibility examines inherent contradictions within and effecting museum practice in order to outline a museological theory of how museums are important cultural practices in themselves and how museums shape the socio cultural dynamics of modern societies especially our attitudes and understandings about human agency and creative potential

Museums are libraries of objects presenting thematic justification that dominant concepts of normativity and speciality as well as attitudes of cultural depreciation By sorting culture into hierarchies of symbolic value museums cloak themselves in supposed objectivity delivered with the passion of connoisseurship and the surety of scholarly research Ulterior motives pertaining to socio economic class racial and ethnic othering and sexual subjugation are shrouded by that false appearance of objectivity This book highlights how the socially responsive practitioner can challenge and subvert taken for granted motivations by undertaking liberatory museum work that engages subaltern narratives engages historically disadvantaged populations and co creates with them dialogical practices of collecting preserving exhibiting and interpreting It points to examples in Africa Asia Europe and the Americas not as self contained entities but as practices within a global web of relationships and as microcosms that define normality and abnormality that engage users in critical dialogue and that influence are conditioned by and disrupt taken for granted understandings and practices of class ethnicity sex gender thinking and being Suitable for students researchers and museum professionals Museums and Social Responsibility presents a comprehensive argument and proposes critical reflective processes to the practitioner so that their museum work may more effectively engage with and change their societies and the world

Relentless Reformer Robyn Muncy, 2016-10-11 Josephine Roche 1886 1976 was a progressive activist New Deal policymaker and businesswoman As a pro labor and feminist member of Franklin D Roosevelt's administration she shaped the founding legislation of the U S welfare state and generated the national conversation about health care policy that Americans are still having today In this gripping biography Robyn Muncy offers Roche's persistent progressivism as evidence for surprising continuities among the Progressive Era the New Deal and the Great Society Muncy explains that Roche became the second highest ranking woman in the New Deal government after running a Colorado coal company in partnership with coal miners themselves Once in office Roche developed a national health plan that was stymied by World War II but enacted piecemeal during the postwar period culminating in Medicare and Medicaid in the 1960s By then Roche directed the United Mine Workers of America Welfare and Retirement Fund an initiative aimed at bolstering the labor movement advancing managed health care and reorganizing medicine to facilitate national health insurance one of Roche's unrealized dreams In Relentless Reformer Muncy uses Roche's dramatic life story from her stint as Denver's first policewoman in 1912 to her fight against a murderous labor union official in 1972 as a unique vantage point from which to examine the challenges that women have faced in public life and to reassess the meaning and trajectory of progressive reform
