2014 Geography Pacesetter:

Introducing Human Geographies Kelly Dombroski, Mark Goodwin, Junxi Qian, Andrew Williams, Paul Cloke, 2024-07-09
Introducing Human Geographies is a travel guide into the academic subject of human geography and the things that it studies. The coverage of the new edition has been thoroughly refreshed to reflect and engage with the contemporary nature and direction of human geography. This updated and much extended fourth edition includes a diverse range of authors and topics from across the globe with a completely revised set of contributions reflecting contemporary concerns in human geography. Presented in four parts with a streamlined structure it includes over 70 contributions written by expert international researchers addressing the central ideas through which human geographers understand and shape their subject. It maps out the big foundational ideas that have shaped the discipline past and present, explores key research themes being pursued in human geography's various sub-disciplines and identifies emerging collaborations between human geography and other disciplines in the areas of technology, justice and environment. This comprehensive, stimulating and cutting-edge introduction to the field is richly illustrated throughout with full-colour figures, maps and photos. The book is designed especially for students new to university degree courses in human geography across the world and is an essential reference for undergraduate students on courses related to society, place, culture and space.

Afropolitanism and the Novel Ashleigh Harris, 2019-08-09
The place of the novel as a literary form in Africa is contested. Its colonial origins and its unaffordability for most Africans make it a bad fit for the continent, yet it was also central to the creation of most postcolonial African national literary canons. These bipolar traditions remain unresolved in recent debates about Afropolitanism and the novel in Africa today. This book extends this debate, arguing that Africa's de-realization in global representation and the global economy is reflected in the African novel becoming dominated by Afropolitan rather than African aesthetics, styles and forms. Drawing on close readings of a variety of major African novels of the 2000s, the volume traces the tensions between the novel's complicity with and resistance to such de-realization. The book argues that current trends and experiments in African non-realist genres such as science fiction, magical and animist realism, Afro-futurism and speculative environmentalism are the result of a preoccupation with such de-realization. The volume is a significant exploration into literary form and its social, philosophical, political and economic underpinnings. It will be a must-read for scholars, students and researchers of African literature, politics, philosophy and culture studies.

of leadership and the concept of democracy and social justice

Unifying Geography David T. Herbert, John A. Matthews, 2004-08-05 It can be argued that the differences in content and approach between physical and human geography and also within its sub disciplines are often overemphasised The result is that geography is often seen as a diverse and dynamic subject but also as a disorganised and fragmenting one without a focus Unifying Geography focuses on the plural and competing versions of unity that characterise the discipline which give it cohesion and differentiate it from related fields of knowledge Each of the chapters is co authored by both a leading physical and a human geographer Themes identified include those of the traditional core as well as new and developing topics that are based on subject matter concepts methodology theory techniques and applications Through its identification of unifying themes the book will provide students with a meaningful framework through which to understand the nature of the geographical discipline Unifying Geography will give the discipline renewed strength and direction thus improving its status both within and outside geography
