Miller,1998 Connecting with Our Ancestors: Human Evolution Museum Experiences Shelley L. Smith,2024-09-29 This book combines documentation and analysis of the contents of exhibits in 12 museums Part 1 with interviews with experts involved in the creation of exhibits Part 2 to explore variation in human evolution exhibits To be successful museum exhibits must make a personal connection with visitors inspiring them to learn more Human evolution exhibits thus need contemporary relevance It is crucial to find ways to bind our deep past to our lives today Presenting our story and our collective history some human evolution exhibits reach an audience of millions each year An understanding of evolution is fundamental to modern biology and a lack of knowledge of basic principles has practical consequences including impairing reception of health messages The goal of the volume is to stimulate discussion of how the presentation of evolution and in particular human evolution can be improved contributing to scientific literacy and engagement with evolutionary science To enhance relevance to a broader public the author argues that incorporation of evolutionary medicine and clearer explanations of ancestry and human biological variation are needed The surveyed museums include four in Texas the author s home state seven additional renowned U S museums and the Natural History Museum in London Some of the 35 interviewees are prominent academic researchers other contribute their expertise in design art and education Topics discussed include exhibit content and changing exhibits the ideal vs reality in exhibit creation self assessments of exhibits education and edutainment and exhibit content intersections with religion politics and the history of representations of race human biological variation A bibliographic essay appendices and text boxes provide additional information for readers desiring more in depth study This volume is of interest to a wide range of readers in anthropology museum studies and science communication Addison-Wesley Science Insights ,1996 The Past and the Future of Human Immunity Under Viral Evolutionary Pressure Gkikas Magiorkinis,Tara P. Hurst,2019-12-04 There is a long standing evolutionary battle between viruses and their hosts that continues to be waged The evidence of this conflict can be found on both sides with the human immune system being responsive to new viral challenges and viruses having developed often sophisticated countermeasures The arms race between viruses and hosts can be thought as an example of the Red Queen race an evolutionary hypothesis inspired from the dialogue of Alice with the Red Queen in Lewis Carroll s Through the Looking Glass At the same time viruses have a minimal genomic content as they have evolved to hitchhike biological machinery of their hosts or other co infecting viruses The minimalistic viral genome could be thought as the result of a Black Queen evolution a theory inspired from the card game Heart where the winner is the one with the fewest points at the end The effects of this arms race are evident in the evolution of the human immune system This system is capable of responding to diverse viral challenges utilizing both the ancient innate immune system and the more recently evolved adaptive immune system of jawed vertebrates It is now well known that the two systems are linked with innate immunity hypothesized to have provided raw material for the emergence of the adaptive immune response The adaptive immune response comprises several protein families including B and T cell receptors MHC and KIR proteins for example that are encoded by complex and variable genomic regions This complexity enables for responsive genetic changes to occur in immune cells such as the ability of genomic hypervariable regions in B cells to recombine in order to produce more specific antibodies Indeed the human immune system is thought to be continually evolving via various mechanisms such as changes in the genes encoding immune receptors and the regulatory sequences that control their expression For example there is some evidence that exogenous viral infections can alter the expression of endogenous retroviruses some of which contribute to the immune response Viral countermeasures can include encoding decoy receptors for the signalling molecules of the immune response altering the gene expression of adaptive immune cells during chronic infection or using host enzymes to facilitate viral immune escape As the articles herein show the immune system continues to be challenged by viral infections and these challenges continue to shape how the immune system combats pathogens thus viruses and human immunity are continuously part of Red and Black Queen evolutionary dynamics We had the pleasure of working with Jonas Blomberg as a reviewer during the course of the Research Topic and his untimely passing was a great loss Prof Blomberg made significant contributions including to the nomenclature of endogenous retroviruses ERVs the evolution and characterization of specific human ERV HERV and the contribution of ERVs to diseases such as cancer It is with great respect for his contributions to the ERV field that we dedicate this eBook to his memory The Collapse of Evolution Scott M.
