International Symposium on Advancing Geodesy in a Changing World Jeffrey T. Freymueller, Laura Sánchez, 2019-03-12 These proceedings contain 23 papers which are the peer reviewed versions of presentations made at the Joint Scientific Assembly of the International Association of Geodesy IAG and the International Association of Seismology and Physics of the Earth's Interior IASPEI. The assembly was held from 30 July to 4 August 2017 in Kobe, Japan. The scientific assembly included seven symposia organized by IAG and nine joint symposia along with additional symposia organized by IASPEI. The IAG symposia were structured according to the four IAG Commissions and the three GGOS Focus Areas and included reference frames, static and time variable gravity field, Earth rotation and geodynamics, multi-signal positioning, geodetic remote sensing and GGOS. The joint symposia included monitoring of the cryosphere, studies of earthquakes, earthquake source processes and other types of fault slip, geohazard warning systems, deformation of the lithosphere and seafloor geodesy. Together, the IAG and joint symposia spanned a broad range of work in geodesy and its applications. The

Anthropocene as a Geological Time Unit Jan Zalasiewicz, Colin N. Waters, Mark Williams, Colin P. in Europe? Mr. Alvar Kangur, Koralai Kirabaeva, Jean-Marc Natal, Simon Voigts, 2019-09-20 We study the properties of the IMF WEO estimates of real time output gaps for countries in the euro area as well as the determinants of their revisions over 1994-2017. The analysis shows that staff typically saw economies as operating below their potential. In real time, output gaps tend to have large and negative averages that are largely revised away in later vintages. Most of the mis-measurement in real time can be explained by the difficulty in predicting recessions and by overestimation of the economy's potential capacity. We also find in line with earlier literature that real time output gaps are not useful for predicting inflation. In addition, countries where slack and potential growth is overestimated to a larger extent, primary fiscal balances tend to be lower and public debt ratios are higher and increase faster than projected. Previous research suggests that national authorities' real time output gaps suffer from a similar bias. To the extent these estimates play a role in calibrating fiscal policy, over-optimism about long term growth could contribute to excessive deficits and debt buildup. US Government and Politics for A-level Fifth
