

Cat 3176C ATAAC Engine

The six-cylinder, direct injection, turbocharged and air-to-air aftercooled engine is built for power, reliability, low maintenance, excellent fuel economy and low emissions.

Cat 3176C ATAAC Engine.

The innovative 3176C diesel engine delivers large-engine performance from a compact engine design. The six-cylinder engine is turbocharged and air-to-air aftercooled. With high displacement and low rated speed, this engine provides excellent fuel economy and durability that can significantly reduce operating costs.

Improved Torque. Power curves customized for the 143H increase peak torque for higher ground speeds and enhanced productivity. Rimpull has been increased in all gears for greater productivity.

Variable Horsepower (VHP) and VHP Plus. Automatically increases horsepower in higher gears when the machine can use it and when all-wheel-drive is engaged. In applications such as snow removal, this power allows higher travel speeds and faster snow removal for more snow clearing in less time. Also, the higher rimpull in all gears maximizes performance during high-speed winging and heavy snow load applications. In lower gears where traction is limited, horsepower is limited, reducing wheel slip, tire wear and conserving fuel.

- The 143H has a VHP Plus option to provide additional horsepower in forward gears 7-8C.

Logging Performance. High torque output and torque rise makes the 3176C very responsive. Its superior logging maintains consistent grading speeds without the need to downshift.

Advanced fuel system. The advanced Diesel Engine Module (ADEM III) fuel system is a Caterpillar exclusive electronic control module which provides improved engine response, performance, fuel efficiency, troubleshooting, diagnostics, and reduced emissions. The ADEM III electronic engine control improves altitude capability to 3000 meters without deration and allows integration with the electronic transmission control for maximum power train efficiency.

Turbocharged and Air-to-air aftercooled.

Turbocharger packs more dense air into the cylinders for more complete combustion and lower emissions improving performance and engine efficiency. These benefits are especially useful at high altitudes. Air-to-air aftercooler reduces smoke and emissions by providing a cooler inlet air for more efficient combustion. This also extends the life of the piston rings and bore.

Extended Engine Life. The large bore-stroke design and conservative power rating minimize internal stresses and increase component life. The low engine speeds reduce engine wear and sound levels.

Hydraulic Demand Fan. The hydraulic demand fan control automatically adjusts cooling fan speed according to engine cooling requirements. This system reduces demands on the engine, getting more power to the ground and improving fuel efficiency.

Caterpillar engine oil. It is formulated to optimize engine life and performance and is strongly recommended for use in Cat diesel engines. The engine oil change interval is increased to 500 hours.

Factory remanufactured parts. A large choice of factory remanufactured parts and dealer proposed repair options increase machine availability and reduce total repair costs.

Emissions Compliant. The new 143H has reduced NOx, hydrocarbon, and particulate emissions. The Cat 3176C meets or exceeds all U.S. EPA Tier II and EU Stage II emissions control standards worldwide.
