central regulators of meiotic commitment 14 3 3 proteins are conserved across different species and perform a number of roles by binding and modulating the activity or localization of target proteins I have discovered that Bmh1 Bmh2 interacts with the middle meiosis transcription factor Ndt80 leading to an increase in Ndt80 protein levels which in turn leads to an increase in expression of Ndt80 target genes Bmh1 Bmh2 also enhances Cdc5 kinase activity which likely has a substrate important for meiotic commitment Furthermore Bmh1 Bmh2 interacts with RNA binding protein Pes4 to maintain meiotic commitment In addition to the roles in meiotic commitment I show that Bmh1 and Bmh2 are important for DNA repair during prophase I My work uncovers a key network needed to maintain genome stability during meiosis Meiosis Bernard John, 1990-04-12 Meiosis the antithesis of fertilization is the unique genetically programmed mode of nuclear division associated with a halving of the chromosome number in sexually reproducing eukaryotes It thus represents a key cellular and developmental pathway in the life of an organism In this book Bernard John presents the first complete and the most authoritative review of the events and mechanisms of meiosis including their scheduling their mechanics and their biochemistry as well as their genetic control and the variations to be found in them in both sexual and subsexual systems The text is superbly illustrated with 131 figures and 73 tables Meiosis must be regarded as essential reading for all students teachers and research workers with an interest in eukaryotic cell biology and genetics
