

Organs of the Digestive System

Background

The digestive system includes the organs associated with the alimentary canal and several accessory structures. The alimentary canal, which is a muscular tube, passes through the body from the opening of the mouth to the anus. It includes the oral cavity, pharynx, esophagus, stomach, small intestine, and large intestine. The canal is adapted to move substances throughout its length. It is specialized in various regions to store, digest, and absorb food materials and to eliminate the residues. The accessory organs, which include the salivary glands, liver, gallbladder, and pancreas, secrete products into the alimentary canal that aid digestive functions.
