Bridging the Gap Between Policy and Science in Assessing the Health Status of Marine Ecosystems, 2nd Edition Angel Borja, Michael Elliott, María C. Uyarra, Jacob Carstensen, Marianna Mea, 2017-03-22 Marine management requires approaches which bring together the best research from the natural and social sciences. It requires stakeholders to be well informed by science and to work across administrative and geographical boundaries, a feature especially important in the inter-connected marine environment. Marine management must ensure that the natural structure and functioning of ecosystems is maintained to provide ecosystem services. Once those marine ecosystem services have been created, they deliver societal goods as long as society inputs its skills, time, money, and energy to gather those benefits. However, if societal goods and benefits are to be limitless, society requires appropriate administrative, legal, and management mechanisms to ensure that the use of such benefits does not impact on environmental quality but instead supports its sustainable use.

Helping Children Learn Mathematics Robert Reys, Mary Lindquist, Diana V. Lambdin, Nancy L. Smith, Anna Rogers, Audrey Cooke, Sue Bennett, Bronwyn Ewing, John West, 2020-01-21 The third edition of Reys' Helping Children Learn Mathematics is a practical resource for undergraduate students of primary school teaching. This is a full-colour printed textbook with an interactive eBook code included. Great self-study features include auto-graded in-situ knowledge check questions, video of teachers demonstrating how different maths topics can be taught in the classroom, and animated branched chain scenarios are in the e-text.

Dynamic Personality Science. Integrating Between-Person Stability and Within-Person Change Nadin Beckmann, Robert E. Wood, 2017-12-28 Personality can be understood from at least two perspectives. One focuses on stable between-person differences or traits. The other perspective focuses on within-person differences and dynamics, i.e., fluctuations in personality in response to situations and across time. This Research Topic reflects recent developments in personality research to integrate both trait and dynamic perspectives. An integrated view on personality recognizes both stability in between person differences and within person change Contributors are drawn from research teams across Europe North America and Australasia and from basic and applied fields including organizational educational and clinical The studies reported provide new evidence in support of an integrative approach highlight currently active areas of research and propose new directions of research Current streams of research include the study of contingent units of personality and within person processes underlying traits the comparisons of findings based on within vs between person data the conceptualisation and operationalization of perceived and objective change in situation variables the malleability of personality and the potential for personality interventions Integrative approaches using within person designs provide new bottom up insights into general principles of personality that explain differences between people while reflecting the complexities of within person personality dynamics at the level of the individual
