Three diverse cartoon characters are sitting together on a small green rug. One character is Black, one is White, and one is Asian. They are all smiling.

Why We Form Governments

When a group of people live together, they need rules to live by. These rules are called laws. Laws help people live together in a safe and orderly way. They help people know what is expected of them and what is not expected of them. Laws help people know what is fair and what is not fair. Laws help people know what is safe and what is not safe. Laws help people know what is good and what is not good. Laws help people know what is right and what is not right. Laws help people know what is true and what is not true. Laws help people know what is good for them and what is not good for them. Laws help people know what is good for their community and what is not good for their community. Laws help people know what is good for their country and what is not good for their country. Laws help people know what is good for the world and what is not good for the world.
