Performance Assessment Brian McLean Semple, 1992 The second International Assessment of Educational Progress focused on the mathematics and science achievement of 13 year olds Performance assessments were used as part of the overall assessment in four countries England Scotland Soviet Union and Taiwan and five Canadian provinces The performance assessment approach drew heavily on the experience of the United Kingdom in such assessments but added features to meet the needs of an international study The performance tasks required students to apply concepts observe measure manipulate equipment and materials and record and interpret data Approximately 3 000 students participated in the 1991 mathematics and science assessments Scores varied widely from task to task and from country to country Relative performance of countries and provinces generally differed from those identified by written curriculum based tests A major lesson learned from the experimental test administration is that this form of performance assessment can be used reliably in international comparative studies although at an estimated cost three to four times greater than that for an equivalent number of written test questions Sample mathematics and science tasks are included and there is an appendix on problem solving in mathematics that describes outcomes produced by Scottish students
