

Sharks

Read the passage and answer the questions below.

Sharks are ancient and magnificent creatures. They have ruled the oceans for the last 400 million years. You can find sharks in every ocean in the world, and some even live in rivers and lakes. Sharks are made of a flexible material called cartilage. You have cartilage in your ears—that's why they bend! There are more than 500 known species of shark in the world. Some are no larger than your hand, while others can be the size of a school bus. The whale shark is the largest animal on earth and can grow up to 30 ft long. Sadly, shark numbers are decreasing. Each year, millions of sharks are hunted and killed for their fins. Scientists have studied the number of sharks in the ocean and are finding that their population size is decreasing. You can help sharks by learning more about them and spreading awareness—share with someone what you learned in this passage!

1. What are sharks made of? Where can you find this material in humans?

2. Which ocean can you find sharks in?

3. Why are shark numbers decreasing?

Pham,2010 The purpose of this study is to determine how behavioral symptoms of inattention predict rapid automatized naming ran performance and reading skills in typically developing children Participants included 104 third and fourth grade children from different elementary schools in mid Michigan Ran performance was assessed using the four Rapid Naming subtests from the ctopp Oral reading fluency and comprehension were assessed using the gort iv and inattention was assessed using the snap iv rating scale Hierarchical regression analyses revealed that all four ran stimuli particularly letter ran predicted reading fluency and comprehension Ratings of inattention predicted ran performance and reading fluency but not comprehension after controlling for age gender ethnicity working memory and estimated iq After controlling for ran performance overall inattention did not significantly predict reading skills Further analyses suggest that ran performance mediated the relation between inattention and reading skills Findings highlight the need to recognize the influence of phonological awareness ran and attention when understanding typical reading development The dissertation citations contained here are published with the permission of ProQuest llc Further reproduction is prohibited without permission Copies of dissertations may be obtained by Telephone 800 1 800 521 0600 Web page <http://www.proquest.com/en-US/products/dissertations/individuals.shtml>

Florida Administrative Weekly ,2004 Harcourt School Publishers

Social Studies Florida HSP,Harcourt School Publishers Staff,2002 Do Accountability and Voucher Threats Improve Low-performing Schools? David N. Figlio,Cecilia Elena Rouse,2008 We study the effects of the threat of school vouchers and school stigma in Florida on the performance of low performing schools using student level data from a subset of districts Estimates of the change in school level high stakes test scores from the first year of the reform are consistent with the early results used by the state of Florida to claim large scale improvements associated with the threat of voucher assignment However we also find that much of this estimated effect may be due to other factors While we estimate a small relative improvement in reading scores on the high stakes test for voucher threatened stigmatized schools we estimate a much smaller relative improvement on a lower stakes nationally norm referenced test Further the relative gains in reading scores are explained largely by changing student characteristics We find more evidence for a positive differential effect on math test scores on both the low and highstakes tests however the results from the lower stakes test appear primarily limited to students in the high stakes grade Finally we find some evidence that the relative improvements following the introduction of the A Plan by low performing schools were more due to the stigma of receiving the low grade rather than the threat of vouchers Abstract West's Florida Statutes Annotated Florida,1943
