

A black and white photograph of a coat and hats on a wall. A dark, long coat hangs on a hook in the center. Above the coat, several dark hats are arranged in rows on a light-colored, horizontally-planked wall. The scene is set in what appears to be a doorway or a small room with a wooden bench or baseboard at the bottom. A dog is lying on the floor in the foreground, and a wooden chair is partially visible on the left.

 After Many Springs is the title of a Thomas Hart Benton painting that evokes nostalgia for a fertile creative time gone by This bold new book taking the name of this work by Benton examines the intersections between Regionalist and Modernist paintings photography and film during the Great Depression a period when the two approaches to art making were perhaps at their zenith It is commonly believed that Regionalist artists Benton John Steuart Curry and Grant Wood reacted to the economic and social devastation of their era by harking back in tranquil bucolic paintings to a departed utopia However this volume compares their work to that of photographers such as Dorothea Lange and Ben Shahn and filmmakers such as Josef von Sternberg all of whom documented the desolation of the Depression and finds surprising commonalities The book also notes intriguing connections between Regionalist artists and Modernists Jackson Pollock and Philip Guston countering prevailing assumptions that Regionalism was an anathema to these New York School painters and showing their shared fascination with the Midwest Distributed for the Des Moines Art Center Exhibition Schedule Des Moines Art Center January 30 May 17 2009 Camerawork ,2004 FSA Gilles Mora,Beverly W. photographs created by the New Deal's Farm Security Administration photography program. With an appreciation for the amateur and the local FSA photographers depicted a range of musicians sharing the regular music of everyday life from informal songs in migrant work camps, farmers' homes, barn dances, and on street corners to organized performances at church revivals, dance halls, and community festivals. Captured across the nation from the northeast to the southwest, the images document the last generation of musicians who learned to play without the influence of recorded sound, as well as some of the pioneers of Chicago's R & B scene and the first years of amplified instruments. The best visual representation of American roots music performance during the Depression era. Hard Luck Blues features photographs by Jack Delano, Dorothea Lange, Russell Lee, Arthur Rothstein, Ben Shahn, Marion Post Wolcott, and others. Photographer and image researcher Rich Remsberg breathes life into the images by providing contextual details about the persons and events captured in some cases drawing on interviews with the photographers' subjects. Also included are a foreword by author Nicholas Dawidoff and an afterword by music historian Henry Sapoznik. Published in association with the Library of Congress.
