

SOAP Note for Appendicitis

Introduction

The abdominal area has multiple vital organs such as the kidneys, the intestines, the stomach, and the appendix that can get infected and lead to various diseases. The scenario of the seventy-year-old Caucasian female involves the organs in the lower right quadrant of her abdomen, and the symptoms the woman is experiencing could be associated with various diseases. The most probable diagnosis for the woman is appendicitis, but other ailments could be likely diagnoses. To design the best treatment plan, it is essential to understand the data required to make an accurate diagnosis for the old woman's condition and the elimination of other likely diagnoses to decide on Appendicitis as the most accurate.

Subjective*Available Subjective Data

A seventy-year-old client at a nursing home complains of "I have a sharp pain that makes me feel nausea, and I vomit sometimes. The pain does not seem to reduce even after I use my prescribed PRN drugs and it is worse after meals." The senior woman has a medical history of hypertension, diabetes mellitus, obesity, and arthritis in her knee. Due to her prevailing medical conditions, the lady consumes PRN drugs to control some of her symptoms and to avoid complications. She has been a widow for a decade and had two adult children and five grandchildren. The woman was an elementary school teacher and retired with forty-five years of experience. She has also been a resident for six years in the nursing home.
