1. A grocery store sells four different sizes of a popular brand of corn flakes. For the past few years the proportion of boxes they sell of each size has been quite stable: 10% Small, 15% Medium, 60% Large, and 15% Jumbo. They decide to change the pricing of the four sizes and want to see if this changes the proportion of boxes they sell of each size. To test this, a few weeks after changing the prices they take a simple random sample of 120 transactions involving corn flakes and count how many boxes of each size were sold. Here are the results.

Observed number of boxes sold for each box size
