Agricultural Science Question Paper Exampler 2014:

Research Methodology in Agricultural Sciences Jayne Njeri Mugwe, Steven Runo, 2026-01-01 This authored textbook provides a comprehensive guide to the methods and methodologies currently used in agricultural research covering the entire process from conceptualisation to reporting. Recognising the interdisciplinary nature of agricultural science the book integrates both biophysical and social science approaches including experimental design on farm research surveys, qualitative and mixed methods research and impact evaluation. It also addresses both quantitative and qualitative data analysis. In addition to methodological guidance the book offers practical support in scientific writing, thesis development, journal article publication and science communication. Theories and concepts are clearly explained using real world examples, flow diagrams, photographs and case studies to enhance understanding. Designed to support students and early career researchers this book helps ease the steep learning curve associated with conducting credible ethical and impactful research. It will be a valuable resource for students, faculty, researchers, professionals, agricultural scientists and policy makers in both national and international contexts.

Returns to agricultural public spending in Africa south of the Sahara Benin, Samuel, 2015-12-18 Using data on 34 countries in Africa south of the Sahara SSA from 1980 to 2012 this paper assesses the returns to public spending in the agricultural sector considering expenditures on agriculture as a whole versus expenditures on agricultural research. First an aggregate production function is estimated using a fixed effects instrumental variables estimator to address potential endogeneity of agricultural expenditure and to obtain elasticities of land productivity with respect to total agricultural expenditure and agricultural research expenditure. Different model specifications are used to test the sensitivity of the results to different assumptions. The estimated elasticities are then used to estimate the rate of return to expenditure in different countries and groups of countries. The elasticity of land productivity with respect to total agricultural expenditure per hectare is estimated at 0.04 and elasticity with respect to agricultural research expenditure per hectare is estimated to be higher at 0.09. The aggregate returns to total agricultural expenditure and agricultural research expenditure in SSA are estimated at 11 percent and 93 percent respectively. Comparative analysis of the estimates with those of previous studies as well as across different countries and different groups of countries is undertaken. Then implications are discussed for maintaining the high returns to agricultural research expenditure and for further studies on the low return to total agricultural expenditure including more disaggregated analysis of expenditure on other functions besides research to better inform prioritization of agricultural expenditure The Untold Stories of African Agriculture Tsedeke Abate,2024-07-24 This landmark volume presents the results of a comprehensive and coherent in depth assessment of Ethiopian agriculture and draws lessons from it to generate actionable recommendations that will inform policy decisions and priority setting for agricultural transformation across Africa Policy makers in Africa are faced with the challenges of ensuring food and nutrition security and the economic wellbeing of their rapidly growing populations while at the same time maintaining the integrity of their natural resource base Between 2000 and 2021 74% of the growth in overall crop production on the continent was derived from increases in land area expansion while increases in yield contributed only 26% of the growth This unchecked expansion of land use puts the sustainability of the natural resource base under severe pressure This book draws on a unique set of case studies from Ethiopia described and told from a truly African perspective The Routledge Handbook of Agricultural Economics Gail Cramer,Krishna Paudel,Andrew Schmitz,2018-07-17 This Handbook offers an up to date collection of research on agricultural economics Drawing together scholarship from experts at the top of their profession and from around the world this collection provides new insights into the area of agricultural economics The Routledge Handbook of Agricultural Economics explores a broad variety of topics including welfare economics econometrics agribusiness and consumer economics This wide range reflects the way in which agricultural economics encompasses a large sector of any economy and the chapters present both an introduction to the subjects as well as the methodology statistical background and operations research techniques needed to solve practical economic problems In addition food economics is given a special focus in the Handbook due to the recent emphasis on health and feeding the world population a quality diet Furthermore through examining these diverse topics the authors seek to provide some indication of the direction of research in these areas and where future research endeavors may be productive Acting as a comprehensive up to date and definitive work of reference this Handbook will be of use to researchers faculty and graduate students looking to deepen their understanding of agricultural economics agribusiness and applied economics and the interrelationship of those areas Gardeners' Chronicle and Agricultural Gazette ,1871
