

State rat all administrative and legislative decisions that could affect them, evaluate implementation of State indigenous policy and follow up on fulfillment of all agreements reached through this mechanism. On November 2, 2006, the indigenous peoples decided to withdraw from it, citing lack of fulfillment of the agreements reached. Their final decision to withdraw stemmed from the position of the Colombian State to not recognize all of the rights contained in the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples¹.

10. The United Nations Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights and fundamental freedoms of indigenous people witnessed during his mission to Colombia in 2004 that "the precarious human rights situation of Colombia's indigenous peoples reflects the gap between progressive domestic legislation and the ineffectiveness of the institutions responsible for protecting these peoples, against a background of internal armed conflict involving numerous warring parties whose actions directly affect indigenous communities' chances of survival"
11. Policies aimed at the Afro-Colombian population are characterized by their institutional dispersion, given that they are formulated by diverse entities at the national, departmental and municipal levels, with a lack of organizations for coordination among them. In 1998, the Government for the first time recognized that indigenous and Afro-Colombian populations were the victims of systematic racial discrimination and that this gave rise to marginalization, poverty and vulnerability to violence. Since then, the Government began to issue various public policy documents aimed at the Afro-Colombian population². However, their implementation is very deficient.
12. We must point to the creation, in 2007, of an Inter-sectorial Commission for the Advance of the Afro-Colombian, Palenquero and Raizal populations³ as a development in affirmative-action policy. The creation of this Commission was not consulted with the Afro-Colombian communities and organizations, which is why they have affirmed that they are not properly represented and do not recognize it. Additionally, the Commission has not yet published any of its results⁴. In August of 2007, the National Planning Department presented the Long-term Comprehensive Plan for the Afro-Colombian, Palenquero and Raizal populations, developed with full participation by the Afro-descendant organizations and communities. However, two years after its presentation, none of the recommendations formulated by the group of Afro-Colombian experts has been fulfilled by the national Government⁵.

³ In 1997 Congress Decree 2000 was drafted, which defined the program to support the development and ethnic navigation of the black communities. In 1998, the National Development Plan presented by the Government specifically included the Afro-Colombian population. A National Development Plan for the Afro-Colombian Population, entitled "Hacia una Nueva Promoción y Reconocimiento" (Towards a Multitude and Multicultural Nation), which reported on the historical social and economic situation of the black population in Colombia during the period between 1990 and 2002, documents were formulated for the development of regions with majority Afro-descendant populations, such as the archipelago of San Andrés and Providencia, the Antioquian Urabá and Chocó region and the forest and middle Amazon. A policy for the Afro-Colombian population was also established through Congress 1009 Decree of 2002, which defined the government policy to generate greater social equality on behalf of the Afro-Colombian population of the Pacific region in particular and to help strengthen their ethnic identity, organizational processes and participation in policy formulation and in development plans that affect them. In 2004, Colombia for the first time formulated an affirmative action policy for the Afro-Colombian population and starting in 2006 has issued four public policy documents for the development of areas in which there are majority black population settlements: Buenavista (Congress 1029 of 2005), Cúcuta (Congress 1063 of 2005), Quibdó (Congress 1070 of 2005) and a land policy for the Colombian Pacific region (Congress 1070 of 2005).
