Special Use Permit Renewal

1.0 -- Decision

After conducting an environmental analysis and seeking public comment on the Maine Army National Guard (MEARNG) and U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACOE) request to renew their special use permit to operate the Bog Brook Training Site in the White Mountain National Forest, I have decided to renew their special use permit for a tenure of 10 years. The special use permit authorizes the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to occupy National Forest System lands and facilities to serve as a training site for the Maine Area National Guard. The USACOE and the MEARNG have requested that the permit be issued to the COE, which serves as the long-term real estate asset holder for State National Guard organizations.

1.1 -- Rationale for the Decision

An analysis of the resource conditions (see Section 4.2) revealed no extraordinary circumstances that would require further environmental analysis.

The MEARNG has maintained and operated the Bog Brook Training Site successfully since 1982 serving as a military training facility. With no compelling reasons such as poor performance, and with support expressed by those who participated in the environmental analysis, I believe a decision to renew the permit is in the government's best interest.

2.0 -- Location, Features, and Background

Renewal of the permit would authorize uses identical to the previous permit.

The original special use permit was issued to the MEARNG in 1984, renewed in 1991, and expired in 1996. Periodic permit amendments have enabled continued use of the site.

The permit authorizes the operation of a training facility at the Bog Brook Training Site and covers 47.5 acres of National Forest System Land (see Map 1 page 10) and 12 Forest Service owned facilities.

The Maine Army National Guard has occupied the camp facilities continually since 1984. They have built two additional dorm buildings and a classroom/storage building. The
