As1720 Timber Design Code:

Timber Structures: Design methods, 1997 This standard sets out limit state design methods for the structural use of timber which are based on the principles of structural mechanics and on data established by research The Standard is intended for use in the design or appraisal of structural elements or systems comprised of timber or wood products and of structures comprised substantially of timber To this end it provides design data for sawn timber laminated timber in pole form plywood laminated veneer lumber and various types of fastenings In addition it provides methods of test for components or assemblies of unconventional design which may not be readily amenable to detailed analysis

A. Barber, R. B. Freeman, 1986      The Design of Timber Flooring for Domestic Construction Joseph J. Mack, 1978 Empirical formulae have been derived from laboratory tests for the deflection of tongued and grooved timber flooring under a concentrated load An empirical formula has also been derived for the concentrated load puncture strength of tongued and grooved timber flooring A method using these formulae has been developed for the design of domestic flooring to satisfy strength and stiffness criteria      The Development of Reliability Based Durability Design Methods for Timber Structures Geoff Stringer, 1993 Durability design methods used in Australia are generally uncoordinated and do not meet the changing needs of durability engineers Durability design principles environmental agents and the existing methods are summarised An alternative method is proposed to allow engineers to reliably estimate the effect of environmental agents on the strength and stiffness of timber members and joints A Durability Coordinators Group is recommended to facilitate further debate      Report - Building Research Association of New Zealand Building Research Association of New Zealand, 1976      Timber Engineering for Developing Countries: Applications and construction, 1985 Lectures prepared for the Timber Engineering Workshop 2 20 May 1983 Melbourne Australia      Proceedings of the 1991 International Timber Engineering Conference Julian Marcroft, 1991      The Grouping of Species for the Design of Timber Joints with Particular Application to Nailed Joints J. J. Mack, 1978 The system used in Australia of grouping timber species for the purposes of the design of joints made with mechanical fasteners has been examined It is proposed that the present system which is largely based on density be continued but with some changes to the group limits The relation between nailed joint strength properties and density has been studied for a large number of species and group limits for these properties have been derived from the strength density regressions     FRI Bulletin ,1984     Timber Engineering for Developing Countries United Nations Industrial Development Organization.
