Tinti, David A. Woodman, 2022 An investigation into the hugely significant works produced by the Worcester foundation at a period of turmoil and change From the mid eleventh to the mid twelfth century Worcester was a monastic community of unparalleled importance Not only was it home to many of the most famous bishops and monks of the period including Bishop Wulfstan II it was also a centre of notable and ambitious scholarly production Under Wulfstan's guidance a number of Worcester brethren undertook historical research that resulted in the writing of such renowned texts as Hemming's Cartulary and the Worcester Chronica Chronicarum Significantly these historical endeavours spanned the political chasm of the Norman Conquest The essays collected here aim to shed new light on different aspects of the Worcester historical workshop whose literary output was in several respects pioneering in contemporary European scholarship Several chapters address the different ways in which the monks organised and updated their archives of documents both via their sequence of cartularies with a special focus on the narrative parts of Hemming's Cartulary and via an interesting and previously unedited prose account of the foundation of the see Others focus on the famous Worcester Chronica Chronicarum attributed both to Florence and to John investigating the major model for its composition and structure the work of Marianus Scotus the stages in which it was completed and its connections with Welsh chronicles as well as the related and fascinating abbreviated version written mostly in the hand of John himself and known as the Chronicula The volume thus elucidates how the Worcester monks navigated the period across the Conquest through the composition of different genres of texts and how these texts shaped their own institutional memory

Myth, Rulership, Church and Charters Andrew Wareham, 2017-03-02

For more than forty years Nicholas Brooks has been at the forefront of research into early medieval Britain In order to honour the achievements of one of the leading figures in Anglo Saxon studies this volume brings together essays by an internationally renowned group of scholars on four themes that the honorand has made his own myths rulership church and charters Myth and rulership are addressed in articles on the early history of Wessex the fief of Mercia and the battle of Brunanburh contributions concerned with charters explore the means for locating those hitherto lost the use of charters in the study of place names their role as instruments of agricultural improvement and the reasons for the decline in their output immediately after the Norman Conquest Nicholas Brooks's long standing interest in the church of Canterbury is reflected in articles on the Kentish minster of Reculver which became a dependency of the church of Canterbury on the role of early tenth century archbishops in developing coronation ritual and on the presentation of Archbishop Dunstan as a prophet Other contributions provide case studies of saints cults with regional and international dimensions examining a mass for St Birinus and dedications to St Clement while several contributions take a wider perspective looking at later interpretations of the Anglo Saxon past both in the Anglo Norman and more modern periods This stimulating and wide ranging collection will be welcomed by the many readers who have benefited from Nicholas Brooks s own work or who have an interest in the Anglo Saxon past more generally It is an outstanding contribution to early medieval studies Sexual Assault and the Justice Gap: A Question of Attitude Jennifer Temkin,Barbara Krahé,2008-04-15 This book is set against the background of the justice gap in sexual assault cases the dramatic gap between the number of offences recorded by the police and the number of convictions It seeks to examine the attitudinal problems which bedevil this area of law and possible strategies for addressing them Written by a professor of law and a professor of psychology it reviews evidence from socio legal and social cognition research and presents new data drawn both from interviews with judges and barristers and from studies with prospective lawyers and members of the public In the final part it considers different ways in which rape trials could be improved and suggests steps that could be taken to change public attitudes about sexual assault Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
