Swinnen,2015-07-30 After five years of debates consultations and negotiations the European institutions reached an agreement in 2013 on the Common Agricultural Policy CAP for the 2014 2020 period The outcome has major implications for the EU s budget and farmers incomes but also for Europe s environment its contribution to global climate change and to food security in the EU and in the world It was decided to spend more than 400 billion during the rest of the decade on the CAP The official claims are that the new CAP will take better account of society s expectations and lead to far reaching changes by making subsidies fairer and greener and making the CAP more efficient It is also asserted that the CAP will play a key part in achieving the overall objective of promoting smart sustainable and inclusive growth However there is significant scepticism about these claims and disappointment with the outcome of the decision making the first in which the European Parliament was involved under the co decision procedure In contrast to earlier reforms where more substantive changes were made to the CAP the factors that induced the policy discussions in 2008 13 and those that influenced the decision making did not reinforce each other On the contrary they sometimes counteracted one another yielding an imperfect storm as it were resulting in more status quo and fewer changes This book discusses the outcome of the decision making and the factors that influenced the policy choices and decisions It brings together contributions from leading academics from various disciplines and policy makers and key participants in the process from the European Commission and the European Parliament      National Index of Agricultural Field Experiments Institute of Agricultural Research Statistics (India),1954      Sustainable Intensification in Smallholder Agriculture Ingrid Oborn,Bernard Vanlauwe,Michael Phillips,Richard Thomas,Willemien Brooijmans,Kwesi Atta-Krah,2017-02-17 Sustainable intensification has recently been developed and adopted as a key concept and driver for research and policy in sustainable agriculture It includes ecological economic and social dimensions where food and nutrition security gender and equity are crucial components This book describes different aspects of systems research in agriculture in its broadest sense where the focus is moved from farming systems to livelihoods systems and institutional innovation Much of the work represents outputs of the three CGIAR Research Programs on Integrated Systems for the Humid Tropics Aquatic Agricultural Systems and Dryland Systems The chapters are based around four themes the conceptual underpinnings of systems research sustainable intensification in practice integrating nutrition gender and equity in research for improved livelihoods and systems and institutional innovation While most of the case studies are from countries and agro ecological zones in Africa there are also some from Latin America Southeast Asia and the Pacific      The Andhra Agricultural Journal ,1983      The Philippine Agricultural Scientist ,2014      The Indian Journal of Agricultural Sciences ,2018      THE JOURNAL OF THE ROYAL AGRICULTURE SOCIETY OF ENGLAND JOHN MURRAY,1914      Journal of the Indian Society of Agricultural
