Fordham,2014-11-13 Drawing on the case of HIV AIDS in Thailand this book examines how anthropological and other interpretative social science research has been utilized in modeling the AIDS epidemic and in the design and implementation of interventions It argues that much social science research has been complicit with the forces that generated the epidemic and with the social control agendas of the state and that as such it has increased the weight of structural violence bearing upon the afflicted The book also questions claims of Thai AIDS control success arguing that these can only be made at the cost of excluding categories such as intravenous drug users the incarcerated and homosexuals who continue to experience extraordinarily high levels of levels of HIV infection Considered deviant and undeserving these persons have deliberately been excluded from harm reduction programs Overall this work argues for the untapped potential of anthropological research in the health field a confident anthropology rooted in ethnography and a critical reflexivity Crucially it argues that in context of interdisciplinary collaborations anthropological research must refuse relegation to the status of an adjunct discipline and must be free epistemologically and methodologically from the universalizing assumptions and practices of biomedicine Hosting States and Unsettled Guests Jennifer Riggan,Amanda Poole,2024-02-06 As wealthy countries build walls to keep migrants out countries in the Global South are celebrated for their hospitality towards refugees Hosting States and Unsettled Guests asks the question did these policies enable refugees to consider their new country home Beginning in 2016 Ethiopia promoted local integration economic opportunities and access to education for refugees in order to encourage them to stay long term rather than migrate towards Europe But by 2020 a political overhaul and the outbreak of war in Northern Ethiopia foreclosed these opportunities particularly for Eritrean refugees in Ethiopia How did Eritrean refugees envision their future in light of the discrepancy between promising policies and ongoing instability Using ethnographic interviews and participant observation with government officials NGOs and refugees in three camps in northern Ethiopia and Addis Ababa Jennifer Riggan and Amanda Poole explore refugee notions of progress care hope and futurity Caught at the intersection of teleological violence and temporal agency refugees endure the present and tenaciously produce a sense of the future even when their efforts to progress are repeatedly challenged An important read Hosting States and Unsettled Guests makes key empirical and theoretical contributions in forced migration studies East African studies anthropology and international education Riggan and Poole deftly shift the focus of refugee studies away from Europe to regions in the Global South to understand the violence of emerging forms of migration deterrence 38th Annual Scientific Meeting National Academy of Science and Technology (Philippines).
