War and Death in the Music of George Crumb Abigail Shupe, 2022-09-02 This book studies George Crumb's The Winds of Destiny 2004 and Black Angels 1970 as artifacts of collective memory and cultural trauma. It situates these two pieces in Crumb's output and unpacks the complex methodologies needed to understand these pieces as contributions and challenges to traditional narratives of the Civil War and the Vietnam War. The Winds of Destiny is shown to be a critical commentary on the legacy of American wars and militarism both concepts crucial to American identity. The Winds of Destiny also acts as an ironic war memorial as a means of critiquing such concepts. Black Angels has long been associated with the Vietnam War. This book shows how this association began and how it endures through connections to iconic Vietnam War media including films and books. Together these analyses show the legacy of trauma in American collective memory which is in a continuous crisis. Crumb's musical critiques point to a need to resist conventional narratives and to begin to heal trauma on a collective level. This book will be of interest to students of contemporary American music, American studies and memory studies. It benefits readers by newly situating Crumb's music within these three fields of study.

AP Us History: Prep 2015 Se John J. Newman, 2014-01-15

Dawn of the DAW Adam Patrick Bell, 2018 Dawn of the DAW tells the story of how the dividing line between the traditional roles of musicians and recording studio personnel (producers, recording engineers, mixing engineers, technicians etc.) has eroded throughout the latter half of the twentieth century to the present. Whereas those equally adept in music and technology such as Raymond Scott and Les Paul were exceptions to their eras, the millennial music maker is ensconced in a world in which the symbiosis of music and technology is commonplace. As audio production skills such as recording, editing and mixing are increasingly co-opted by musicians teaching themselves in their do-it-yourself (DIY) recording studios, conventions of how music production is taught and practiced are remixed to reflect this reality. Dawn of the DAW first examines DIY recording practices within the context of recording history from the late nineteenth century to the present. Second Dawn of the DAW discusses the concept of the studio as musical instrument and the role of the producer, detailing how these constructs have evolved throughout the history of recorded music in tandem. Third Dawn of the DAW details current practices of DIY recording, how recording technologies are incorporated into music making and how they are learned by DIY studio users in the musically chic borough of Brooklyn. Finally, Dawn of the DAW examines the broader trends heard throughout, summarizing the different models of learning and approaches to music making. Dawn of the DAW concludes by discussing the ramifications of these new directions for the field of music education.
