Lesson 1.1: Solving Systems of Equations

Students often have difficulty understanding how to graph a system of two linear equations. The suggested steps might help. To draw the second graphing line, the student can use the slope and y-intercept of the second equation. The student can also use the slope and y-intercept of the first equation and the slope of the second equation to find the second equation. The student can also use the slope and y-intercept of the first equation and the slope of the second equation to find the second equation. The student can also use the slope and y-intercept of the first equation and the slope of the second equation to find the second equation.

$$y = 2x + 1$$
