

An Essay on Man By Alexander Pope

I.

Say first, of God above, or man below,
What can we reason, but from what we know?
Of man what see we, but his station here,
From which to reason, or to which refer?
Through worlds unnumber'd though the God be known,
'Tis ours to trace him only in our own.
He, who through vast immensity can pierce,
See worlds on worlds compose one universe,
Observe how system into system runs,
What other planets circle other suns,
What varied being peoples ev'ry star,
May tell why Heav'n has made us as we are.
But of this frame the bearings, and the ties,
The strong connections, nice dependencies,
Gradations just, has thy pervading soul
Look'd through? or can a part contain the whole?

Is the great chain, that draws all to agree,
And drawn supports, upheld by God, or thee?

An Essay on Man Alexander Pope, 2013-06-28 Pope's life as a writer falls into three periods answering fairly enough to the three reigns in which he worked Under Queen Anne he was an original poet but made little money by his verses under George I he was chiefly a translator and made much money by satisfying the French classical taste with versions of the Iliad and Odyssey Under George I he also edited Shakespeare but with little profit to himself for Shakespeare was but a Philistine in the eyes of the French classical critics But as the eighteenth century grew slowly to its work signs of a deepening interest in the real issues of life distracted men's attention from the culture of the snuff box and the fan As Pope's genius ripened the best part of the world in which he worked was pressing forward as a mariner who will no longer hug the coast but crowds all sail to cross the storms of a wide unknown sea Pope's poetry thus deepened with the course of time and the third period of his life which fell within the reign of George II was that in which he produced the Essay on Man the Moral Essays and the Satires These deal wholly with aspects of human life and the great questions they raise according throughout with the doctrine of the poet and of the reasoning world about him in his latter day that the proper study of mankind is Man
