Classroom Michael T. Bagley, Karin K. Hess, 1993      200 Ways of Using Imagery in the Classroom Michael T. Bagley, Karin K. Hess, 1987 Grade level 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 k p e i t      Language and Image in the Reading-Writing Classroom Kristie S. Fleckenstein, Linda T. Calendrillo, Demetrice A. Worley, 2002-02-01 This volume offers concrete answers to the question of how we can use imagery to enrich the teaching of reading and writing The chapters are organized according to two guiding principles First each addresses specific aspects of the inextricable integration of imagery and language in the teaching of reading and writing Imagery is not privileged over language the fusion of the two is emphasized Second each focuses on a particular kind of imagery mental graphic or verbal describing teaching learning strategies based on the deployment of that kind of imagery in the classroom There is currently a renewed acknowledgment of the importance of imagery in meaning The rapid spread of the World Wide Web computer interfacing and virtual reality further highlights the need to attend to the influence of imagery in a networked world In response to these shifts in scholarly and cultural perspectives NCTE has established a committee on visual literacy and an emphasis on visual literacy has been incorporated into the IRA NCTE Standards for the English Language Arts This book contributes significantly toward filling the need for explicit and specific theory based methods teachers can use to integrate imagery into their pedagogy Accessible and lively chapters include classroom activities and student generated examples Language and Image in the Reading Writing Classroom is an excellent text for preservice and in service pedagogy courses and an important resource for practicing teachers researchers and professionals in the field      Working with Images Ben Goldstein, 2008 A CD ROM which has over 500 images that can be used for the activities in the book is also included In the introduction the author articulates several strong reasons for using images in the language classroom He also provides a brief history of the image in language teaching along with some tips for finding images to use The rest of the book is divided into two parts one organised around activity types the other arranged by image type Chapter 2 Interpreting images invites students not only to describe pictures but also to use their own thought processes This chapter has some unique activities including Out of focus where students look at distorted pictures and attempt to determine what the original image was In Chapter 3 Creating images students are put in touch with their creative sides through drawing photography and collages Chapter 4 Imaging is the final chapter in the first section of the book It involves students imaginations engaging their mental imagery In Questions to a portrait students look at a and generate a series of questions to ask along with possible answers The second section of the book begins with Chapter 5 Signs symbols and icons Here students explore masks stamps hand gestures flags      From Minimetaphors to Maximetaphors Ron Tinney, Beverley Schreiber, 1988      Visual Messages David M. Considine, Gail E. Haley, 1992 A resource for media and visual literacy With the assertion it s not what they watch it s how they watch authors Considine and Haley offer a strong rationale for visual literacy programs in which students can develop the cognitive and viewing skills necessary in our media dominated society In this fascinating and astute examination of mass media and its effect on our culture the authors offer a profound assessment of the problems and issues surrounding the communication revolution and give sound practical solutions to those problems solutions for parents for teachers administrators librarians media specialists and especially solutions for children Ideas strategies and activities that can be easily integrated into diverse areas of the existing curriculum promote critical thinking about the information students receive in a multimedia world and the daily decisions they make as consumers whether selecting a product or a politician Only when they have developed these abilities are they prepared for the world they live in Some of the chapter titles are Making the Living Room a Learning Room by Using TV Television Effectively Advertising Exploring the Consumer Culture in the Classroom Reading the News Interpreting Form and Content and Movies as Mentors Teaching with Motion Pictures      Mental Imagery and Learning Malcolm L. Fleming, Deane W. Hutton, 1983

Guided Imagery in the Classroom Gael Lee Ragle, 1984      The Role of Imagery in Learning Harry S. Broudy, 1999
Educational Imagery Glenn E. Richardson, 1982      Imagery in Education Anees A. Sheikh, Katharina S. Sheikh, 1985
Incorporating Media Imagery Into the Secondary Art Classroom Andrew Morrison, 2004      Using Guided Imagery as an Instructional Strategy for Developing Creativity, Learning and Relaxation with First Grade Students Jennifer Lynn Kilpatrick, 2001 This project examines the theories of guided imagery as a basis for a teaching strategy for developing a student s creativity promoting learning by increasing concentration techniques and relaxing students This study discusses how one first grade teacher used guided imagery with her students The strategy was first used as a morning practice and later incorporated into the language arts program The topics addressed in this project include a What is guided imagery b How can guided imagery be applied within a classroom setting and c What guided imagery exercises are appropriate for first grade students The project concludes that guided imagery can be effectively used with first grade students to enhance the learning process
