Economic and Social Survey of Asia and the Pacific United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific, 2015 'Capital' in the East Achin Chakraborty, Anjan Chakrabarti, Byasdeb Dasgupta, Samita Sen, 2019-10-23 This book pursues a Marxist approach with an emphasis on class to reflect on Marx's Capital in the context of the East It critically

reassesses some of the familiar concepts in Capital and teases out issues that are at its periphery. In various essays it explores this borderland to promote new concepts and modes of analysing Marx's treatise in the twenty first century. Accordingly it represents an advance in Marxian theory and politics. Examining Marx's Capital from the perspective and location of the East the book focuses on many issues that are at the borders of Capital which is concerned principally on unpacking developed capitalism. New concepts are introduced and set in relation to those championed by Marx in order to advance our understanding of economy capitalism development and politics. In this regard the book offers a reading of Capital that is distinct from conventional reflections on it in the Western world. The scope is vast covering much of the territory in Marx's Capital as well as addressing a few new issues connected to Capital. The content is divided into the following sections Reception of Capital in the East Value Commodity Surplus Value and Capitalism Population and Rent in Capital and Issues Beyond Capital. The Rise of the Robots Martin Ford, 2015-09-03 Intelligent algorithms are already well on their way to making white collar jobs obsolete travel agents data analysts and paralegals are currently in the firing line. In the near future doctors taxi drivers and ironically even computer programmers are poised to be replaced by robots. Without a radical reassessment of our economic and political structures we risk the very implosion of the capitalist economy itself. In The Rise of the Robots technology expert Martin Ford systematically outlines the achievements of artificial intelligence and uses a wealth of economic data to illustrate the terrifying societal implications. From health and education to finance and technology his warning is stark all jobs that are on some level routine are likely to eventually be automated resulting in the death of traditional careers and a hollowed out middle class. The robots are coming and we have to decide now whether the future will bring prosperity or catastrophe.

Food and Cooking Skills Education Anita Tull, 2018-01-29 Food and Cooking Skills Education FCSE is a complex mix of policy and practicality educational theory and pedagogy classroom and government policy. This book shows how FCSE has been at the centre of a tussle between education and policy for decades. It reviews how FCSE has grappled with various significant issues of concern that threaten to marginalise it and pose problems for educational practicalities as expectations are increased but resources are squeezed. It assesses the debate about the significance and importance of acquiring practical food and cooking skills in a society where the purchase of ready made food has become commonplace and public knowledge of where our food comes from is noticeably lacking. This has contributed to the escalating incidence of diet related diseases and the attendant cost to society and threatened environmental sustainability. In turn governments have reacted by proposals to make practical cooking skills a statutory National Curriculum subject as part of the armoury for tackling such costs. Based on detailed research conducted across England and Wales as well as comparisons with thirty five other countries or states.

the author makes recommendations for policy to manage this challenge facing contemporary society The Quarterly Review of Economics and Finance ,2015 The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications,2015-09-10 The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic economic technological environmental urban and socio political transitions Africa s economic performance is promising with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets Despite significant overall growth the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all This report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change

Growth that Works for All ,2016 Impact Evaluation of Transport Interventions David A. Raitzer,Nina Blöndal,Jasmin Sibal,2019 This publication reviews 91 impact evaluations of transport interventions in developing countries summarizes findings on outcomes identifies evidence gaps and proposes ways forward Most of the studies reviewed find significant effects on at least one of the outcomes investigated However impact evaluation has given relatively little coverage to major areas of investment such as urban and sustainable transport transport corridors and efficiency enhancing measures New methods and increasing openness of geospatial data provide scope to generate more innovative impact studies in this sector
