

137 Relative clauses with who, which and that

A Introduction

Emma: I saw Natalie the other day.
Melanie: Natalie? The girl who plays the piano?
Emma: No, that's Natasha. Natalie is the student who dropped out of college, the one who never did any studying. She's working in Davidson's now, the shop that sells very expensive clothes.

The relative clauses in this conversation identify which person or thing we are talking about. The clause who plays the piano tells us which girl Melanie means. The clause that sells very expensive clothes tells us which shop Emma means.

Sometimes we can use an adjective or a phrase to identify someone or something.

Adjective: the tall girl the new student the red car
Phrase: the man in the suit the shop on the corner the woman with red hair
But when we need a longer explanation, we can use a relative clause.
Relative clause: the woman who gets up early the car that broke down

B Who, which and that

The relative pronouns who, which and that go after the noun and at the beginning of the relative clause.

Who refers to people.

Nick is the man who owns that enormous dog. I don't like people who tell jokes all the time.
The little girl who sat next to me on the coach ate sweets the whole way.
Sarah is pretty annoyed with the person who stole her mobile phone. We can also use that, but it is less usual.

Jake is the man that plays the guitar.
The woman that lived here before us is a romantic novelist.

That and which refer to things. That is more usual than which, especially in conversation.

The car that won the race looked very futuristic, didn't it? They've recaptured all the animals that escaped from the zoo. The children saw the actual spacecraft that landed on the moon.

Which can be a little formal.

There are several restaurants which do Sunday lunches. Is Zedco the company which was taken over last year?

We do not use another pronoun like he or it with the relative pronoun.

~~NOT the man who he owns that enormous dog. NOT the actual spacecraft that it landed on the moon.~~

In all these sentences who, which and that are the subject of the relative clause. For who, which and that as object, see Units f 38 and f 39.
