With Inquiries Into the Doctrine of Transubstantiation, Etc* James BOOTH (F.R.S., Vicar of Stone, Bucks.), 1870      British and Irish Paintings in Public Collections Christopher Wright, Catherine May Gordon, 2006-01-01 This book sets a new standard as a work of reference. It covers British and Irish art in public collections from the beginning of the sixteenth century to the end of the nineteenth and it encompasses nearly 9 000 painters and 90 000 paintings in more than 1 700 separate collections. The book includes as well pictures that are now lost some as a consequence of the Second World War and others because of de accessioning mostly from 1950 to about 1975 when Victorian art was out of fashion. By listing many tens of thousands of previously unpublished works including around 13 000 which do not yet have any form of attribution this book becomes a unique and indispensable work of reference one that will transform the study of British and Irish painting      Supplementary Stories and Poems [to "Fantastic Stories".] Edward Yardley (Poet and Novelist.), 1870      The Logic of the Body Matthew A. LaPine, 2020-11-04 Do not be anxious about anything. When it comes to stress and worry that's all we really need to say right. Just repent of your anxiety and everything will be fine. But emotional life is more complex than this. In The Logic of the Body Matthew LaPine argues that Protestants must retrieve theological psychology in order to properly understand the emotional life of the human person. With classical and modern resources in tow LaPine argues that one must not choose between viewing emotions exclusively as either cognitive and volitional on the one hand or simply a feeling of bodily change on the other. The two stories can be reconciled through a robustly theological analysis. In a culture filled with worry and anxiety The Logic of the Body offers a fresh path within the Reformed tradition      The Book Buyer's Guide, 1953
