Journalism, Culture and Society Omega Douglas, Angela Phillips, 2022-11-30 Drawing upon a range of theoretical perspectives including cultural studies postcolonial theory critical race studies political economy and sociology Journalism Culture and Society examines journalism as a democratic necessity that often fails to live up to its promise This text takes a step back from prevailing idealistic approaches in which theory is often seen as a threat rather than a service to the better understanding of practice and mainstream journalism in western democracies is seen as unproblematic Instead using international examples the authors provide a critique for those who seek to improve journalistic practice whilst not losing sight of the profound practical dilemmas that journalists around the world experience in their working lives from the resources available to them to the institutions and political contexts in which they work Readers are encouraged to consider why journalists choose or are expected to choose particular subjects or tropes in their work and the implications of these choices Journalism Culture and Society is a valuable resource for students academics and practitioners in the areas of media journalism and communication

Military Assistance on Request and the Use of Force Erika De Wet, 2020-03-26 In countries such as Syria Iraq South Sudan and Yemen internationally recognized governments embroiled in protracted armed conflicts and with very little control over their territory have requested direct military assistance from other states These requests are often accepted by the other states despite the circumvention of the United Nations Security Council and extensive violation of international humanitarian law and human rights In this book Erika De Wet examines the authority entitled to extend a request for or consent to direct military assistance as well as the type of situations during which such assistance may be requested notably whether it may be requested during a civil war Ultimately De Wet addresses the question of if and to what extent the proliferation of military assistance on the request of a recognized government is changing the rules in international law applying to the use of force
