

What is PBL?

Project Based Learning (PBL) is a learning framework in which students research, investigate, and provide a solution to a real world problem.

In PBL students aren't just creating a project. They are going through a process.

In this resource you will find activity pages to help students choose a topic for their project, write a driving question for their topic, record their learning, and reflect on their work.

Posters are also included with project ideas as well as ideas for how to end a PBL unit.

7 Elements of Project Based Learning
