6th Grade Math I Can Statements:

Rethinking Homework Cathy Vatterott,2018-09-25 In this updated edition Cathy Vatterott examines the role homework has played in the culture of schooling over the years how such factors as family life the media and homework gap issues based on shifting demographics have affected the homework controversy and what recent research as well as common sense tell us about the effects of homework on student learning She also explores how the current homework debate has been reshaped by forces including the Common Core a pervasive media and technology presence the mass hysteria of achievement culture and the increasing shift to standards based and formative assessment The best way to address the homework controversy is not to eliminate homework Instead the author urges educators to replace the old paradigm characterized by long standing cultural beliefs moralistic views and behaviorist philosophy with a new paradigm based on the following elements Designing high quality homework tasks Differentiating homework tasks Deemphasizing grading of homework Improving homework completion and Implementing homework support programs Numerous examples from teachers and schools illustrate the new paradigm in action and readers will find useful new tools to start them on their own journey The end product is homework that works for all students at all levels

Rethinking Grading Cathy Vatterott,2015-07-13

Grading systems often reward on time task completion and penalize disorganization and bad behavior Despite our best intentions grades seem to reflect student compliance more than student learning and engagement In the process we inadvertently subvert the learning process After careful research and years of experiences with grading as a teacher and a parent Cathy Vatterott examines and debunks traditional practices and policies of grading in K 12 schools She offers a new paradigm for standards based grading that focuses on student mastery of content and gives concrete examples from elementary middle and high schools Rethinking Grading will show all educators how standards based grading can authentically reflect student progress and learning and significantly improve both teaching and learning Cathy Vatterott is an education professor and researcher at the University of Missouri St Louis a former middle school teacher and principal and a parent of a college graduate She has learned from her workshops that grading continues to be the most contentious part conjuring up the most intense emotions and heated disagreements Vatterott is also the author of the book Rethinking Homework Best Practices That Support Diverse Needs

Going Gradeless, Grades 6-12 Elise Burns,David

Frangiosa,2021-03-03 Reform assessment reduce stress and strengthen learning Great things happen when students are able to focus on their learning instead of their scores However assessment reform including standards based grading remains a hotly debated issue in education Going Gradeless shows that it is possible to teach and assess without the stress of traditional grading practices Sharing their successful shifts to alternate assessment and their perspectives as experienced classroom teachers the authors show you how to remove the negative impacts of grades while still maintaining a high level of accountability Readers will find concrete examples of how these approaches can be developed and applied plus Sample assessments and rubrics Student work samples from all grade levels An accountability checklist A review of collected data It is possible to go gradeless Focusing less on letter grades allows students to interact with the content more deeply develop better relationships with their teachers and peers and gain confidence in the classroom school and beyond

The Teacher as Assessment Leader

Thomas R.
