It emphasises the importance of integrating indigenous African knowledge into academic spaces to support decolonisation, re-Africanisation and transformation. Human and Mediated Communication around the World Marieke de Mooij, 2013-10-07 This book is unique in the sense that it offers a comprehensive review and analysis of human communication and mediated communication around the world. This is one of the first attempts to do so in a systematic, comprehensive way. It challenges the assumption that Western theories of human communication and mass communication have universal applicability. It surveys the applicability of mass communication theories to other than Western cultures. The book explains the influence of culture on all forms of communication behavior, be it personal, mediated or mass communication. It presents communication theories from around the world, incorporating a vast body of literature from Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America. This updated information on important international perspectives that includes both interpersonal and mediated communication is presently not readily available in other sources. The book offers an integrated approach to understanding the working of electronic means of communication that are hybrid media combining human and mediated communication. These new media that are often presented as universal are even more culture-bound than the traditional media. Chiefs in South Africa NA

Culture Wars Deborah James, Evelyn Plaice, Christina Toren, 2010-03-01

The relationship between anthropologists ethnographic investigations and the lived social worlds in which these originate is a fundamental issue for anthropology Where some claim that only native voices may offer authentic accounts of culture and hence that ethnographers are only ever interpreters of it others point out that anthropologists are themselves implanted within specific cultural contexts which generate particular kinds of theoretical discussions The contributors to this volume reject the premise that ethnographer and informant occupy different and incommensurable cultural worlds Instead they investigate the relationship between culture context and anthropologists models and accounts in new ways In doing so they offer fresh insights into this key area of anthropological research
