A Winter At Whetstone English Edition:

The Italian Novella and Shakespeare's Comic Heroines Melissa Emerson Walter, 2019-08-21 This is the first book to provide a full treatment of Shakespeare's literary and theatrical engagement with the Italian novella and female agency

Crowell's Handbook of Elizabethan & Stuart Literature James E. Ruoff, 1975      The Oxford Companion to Shakespeare Michael Dobson, Stanley Wells, Will Sharpe, Erin Sullivan (Cultural historian), 2015 This is a reference text on Shakespeare's works, times, life and afterlives. It offers stimulating and authoritative coverage of every aspect of Shakespeare and his writings including their reinterpretation in the theatre, in criticism and in film      Rackham Literary Studies, 1972

The Gardeners' Chronicle, 1885      The Amanda Group of Bagford Poems. (circa 1668). From the Rare Originals in the British Museum Etc. Collected and Annotated Joseph Woodfall Ebsworth, 1880      Sir John Soane and London Ptolemy Dean, 2006 The great architect Sir John Soane 1753-1837 carried out over four hundred recorded architectural commissions in London. Although many never resulted in a finished building, these little-known commissions formed the backbone of his life and practice and were the key to its development. Sir John Soane and London pulls together this vast archive of work for the first time to illustrate Soane's remarkable and extensive involvement in the fabric of the city. Soane's work in London falls naturally into four areas: London townhouses, surveyorships, commissions for monuments, mausolea and churches, and public works commissions. Soane's London townhouse practice was the most substantial and the architect often had to act more like a modern-day estate agent, gathering and arranging properties for his clients in the hope that lucrative architectural commissions would follow. Surveyorships, particularly the long destroyed Bank of England, provided Soane with a regular stream of work which he could use to develop his architectural themes and informed the important public works commissions in Westminster which came at the end of Soane's life. There was also a surprising amount of church and mausoleum work. All of these projects fed into Soane's wider desire to give London the buildings he felt worthy of a major European capital. Sir John Soane and London is organized in the same way as Sir John Soane and the Country Estate (Ashgate 1999) with a sequence of eight case studies on important surviving Soane London buildings, followed by a fully updated gazetteer of Soane's known London projects. The buildings are illustrated by newly commissioned black and white photographs by Martin Charles and the author's own watercolour drawings. Combined, Sir John Soane and London and Sir John Soane and the Country Estate provide the most accurate and complete record to date of Soane's work      Greater London Edward Walford, 1898      Publications Ballad Society, 1880      The Bagford ballads (The Amanda group of Bagford poems) ed. by J.W. Ebsworth John Bagford, 1876      Publications of the Ballad Society, 1880      The Bagford Ballads: Illustrating the Last Years of the Stuarts Joseph Woodfall Ebsworth, 1878      Village London Edward Walford, 1884 Originally published in 1883 under the title Greater London and first reprinted 100 years later, this work by a Victorian historian and antiquarian records the history of the hamlets, villages and market towns that made up the metropolitan area before the
