Windows James Campbell, Michael Tutton, 2025-09-18 In Windows History Repair and Conservation readers are guided through the history dating development care repair and conservation of windows by authors who are experts in their fields Each chapter covers a different aspect of the subject from the dating of windows and their separate parts through to surveying and engineering recording and curation of historic windows their ironmonger and surrounds As this book shows windows vary in complexity and form from the very simplest glazed openings to intricate medieval stained glass masterpieces combining the work of stone masons smiths woodworkers glaziers and artists This book traces the history of windows and provides guidance on their upkeep and conservation It is thus an essential reference work for all those involved in care of historic buildings Windows History Repair and Conservation was the first major book devoted to the understanding of windows This new revised edition brings the book up to date and provides additional chapters to provide a complete overview of the subject that will inform research and practice for years to come

Surveying Historic Buildings David Watt, 2015-07-17 This bestselling book has been fully revised and updated to include valuable new case studies and examples which help to demonstrate the common problems found in older buildings It features many additional photographs illustrating the decay mechanisms and individual issues associated with damp timber decay masonry defects roofing problems and many other aspects The book begins by summarizing the basics of surveying practice including the inspection assessment defect diagnosis and monitoring of defects It then examines the building elements discussing their construction typical faults and their diagnoses This section provides specific advice on assessing industrial monuments and features concise inspection checklists for ease of reference In the final section the author looks to the future considering the specific challenges faced by property professionals when employed to survey historic buildings The book is accompanied by comprehensive appendices including sample survey forms and a list of useful contacts is followed by an extensive bibliography This book will be of particular interest to conservation officers surveyors architects archaeologists and planners

Architectural Publications Index ,2003 The Legacy of Light Nessa Roche,1999 Written in an accessible and popular style this book is for the general reader interested in lifestyle house design heritage and the environment The book includes sections on how and why windows are arranged as they are history of windows in Irish architecture past glass makers joiners and related trades and more Building Age Book Guide Edward P. Von Gogh,1927 Conservation of Historic Buildings Bernard Feilden,2007-06-07 Since its publication in 1982 Sir Bernard Feilden s Conservation of Historic Buildings has become the standard text for architects and others involved in the conservation of historic structures Leading practitioners around the world have praised the book as being the most significant single volume on the subject to be published This third edition revises and updates a classic book including completely new sections on conservation of Modern Movement buildings and non destructive investigation The result of the lifetime s experience of one of the world s leading architectural conservators the book comprehensively surveys the fundamental principles of conservation in their application to historic buildings and provides the basic information needed by architects engineers and surveyors for the solution of problems of architectural conservation in almost every climatic region of the world This edition is organized into three complementary parts in the first the structure of buildings is dealt with in detail the second focuses attention on the causes of decay and the materials they affect and the third considers the practical role of the architect involved in conservation and rehabilitation As well as being essential reading for architects and others concerned with conservation many lay people with various kinds of responsibility for historic buildings will find this clearly written jargon free work a fruitful source of guidance and information The Architects' Journal ,1999 The Architect ,1874 Building ,1889 The Architects' Journal Library of Information Sheets ,1952 Windows in Modern Architecture Geoffrey Harold Baker,Bruno Funaro,1948

Materials for Architects and Builders Arthur R. Lyons,1997 Throughout the book is clearly illustrated with many photographs and diagrams showing materials and building components both individually and in use Where relevant the environmental aspects of the building materials are considered Each chapter lists the up to date British and European Standards together with related Building Research Establishment publications and suggested further reading A selection of colour images illustrates the appropriate use of different construction materials within the context of quality architectural design Essential reading for students of building architecture and construction Extensive coverage of all types of building materials Key introductory text The Care and Conservation of Georgian Houses Andy Davey,1995 Now in its fourth fully revised and updated edition this practical manual describes and illustrates every aspect of conservation work and will interest anyone responsible for the care and upkeep of a stone built 18th century building or with our architectural heritage. The substructure, external walls, roof, internal details and external works of a Georgian house are studied and explained in great detail and an entirely new section on decoration and finishes has been added. The Care and Conservation of Georgian Houses is based on the New Town of Edinburgh described by Lord Clark as one of the finest pieces of town planning in Europe. Produced under the aegis of the Edinburgh New Town Conservation Committee, the book is unsurpassed in the wealth and clarity of its information and illustrations and the excellence of its practical guidance. This fourth edition provides more technical information than previous editions and places greater emphasis on interiors. Edinburgh's 318 hectare New Town, started in 1767, is still largely unspoiled and uniquely a residential central area. It is also an outstanding Conservation Area of international importance. The success of the New Town Conservation Committee since 1970 in safeguarding the listed buildings and ensuring that they are appropriately repaired is due to the co-operation and expert knowledge of owners, authorities, amenity societies, architects and contractors who understand and respect the quality of architecture and the forms of construction. This book is evidence of such co-operation; the text first written in 1976 has been updated three times as the experience of the authors and their advisers increased. This fourth edition has been completely rewritten; each page and illustration has been checked and revised and a new chapter on shop fronts has been added. This disciplined neo-classical design of the New Town depends on precise and accurate detailing and on the choice of appropriate materials for repairs; this maintenance manual sets out every aspect of typical external and structural repairs with advice on legislation, grants and procedures for carrying out repairs which in urban areas are often shared between several owners. Completely updated with greater emphasis on interiors. Acts as an owner's guide and professional handbook. Gives advice on legislation, grants and the organisation of commercial repairs.
