Architectural Paint Research:

Layers of Understanding Helen Hughes, 2017-09-29 These are the proceedings of an English Heritage national seminar which was organised to address growing concerns about the variable quality of architectural paint research currently being carried out. The book describes and explains its role in understanding and managing historic buildings. The contributions contained in this book are designed to promote the development of standards and guidelines for use by clients and consultants helping to shape the development of this vital new discipline. It therefore contains edited transcripts of the ground breaking discussion sessions on the proposed English Heritage guidelines and other important issues. The statutory requirements relating to painted interiors of listed buildings is another very problematical issue which has been considered in detail. In addition guidance is provided on commissioning paint research and the pitfalls to avoid. The book will be essential reading for paint researched architects, surveyors, conservation officers and all practitioners involved in commissioning paint research for historic buildings. Architectural Paint Research in Building Conservation L. Bregnhøj, H.

Hughes, 2007-09-29 Over the past twenty years architectural paint research has developed rapidly as a discipline that provides insights into the use of historic paint and the history and development of historic interiors and is now recognized as an important tool in the conservation of historic buildings. This volume of papers presented at the Architectural Paint Research in Building Conservation conference held at the National Museum of Denmark, Copenhagen, provides a unique overview and discussion of the latest developments within the field. The book will be appreciated by architects and those responsible for the management of historic interiors as well as specialist researchers, conservators, decorators and interior designers. Architectural Paint Research Rachel Faulding, Sue Thomas, 2014

The 4th International Architectural Paint Research Conference in 2010 illustrated the developing maturity of a discipline confident in its position within the heritage sector. Specialists in the field discussed Moving the Profession Forward, The Public Face of APR and Decision Making, Communication with Clients and Heritage Bodies. The papers in this conference volume explore the organisational and financial context in which architectural paint research is practiced, the application of research findings to interpretation and the paint researcher's role in the decision making process. Standards in Architectural Paint Research Lisa

Nilsen, Kathrin Hinrichs Degerbald, 2014-09 The implications of globalisation include the growing necessity for people everywhere to be working in a more global way. The increased international cooperation between professionals and clients in the field of Architectural Paint Research has highlighted the necessity to agree on standards in the way that samples are taken, analysed and recorded. The papers in this volume presented at the conference Innovation through Baseline Proficiencies hosted by the Swedish National Heritage Board illustrate the problems involved in meeting this challenge. Ideas for moving forward include the importance of keeping up with present day standards in the paint industry, the creation of a new European group and an association of architectural paint researchers.
