African American and Cherokee Nurses in Appalachia Phoebe Ann Pollitt,2016-03-01 Few career opportunities were available to minority women in Appalachia in the first half of the 20th century Nursing offered them a respected relatively well paid profession and as few physicians or hospitals would treat people of color their work was important in challenging health care inequities in the region Working in both modern surgical suites and tumble down cabins these women created unprecedented networks of care managed nursing schools and built professional nursing organizations while navigating discrimination in the workplace Focusing on the careers and contributions of dozens of African American and Eastern Band Cherokee registered nurses this first comprehensive study of minority nurses in Appalachia documents the quality of health care for minorities in the region during the Jim Crow era Racial segregation in health care and education and state and federal policies affecting health care for Native Americans are examined in depth Congressional Record , United States of America Congressional Record , Proceedings and Debates of the 113th Congress Second Session Volume 160 - Part 1 , Army and Navy Register ,1942

Army-Navy-Air Force Register and Defense Times ,1942 Trends in Corrections Dilip K. Das,Philip Birch,2019-09-04 With a fresh set of interviews exploring cross cultural differences and similarities Volume Three of this book includes lessons from practitioners in a diverse array of countries including Honduras Japan Lithuania the Philippines Thailand the Slovak Republic South Africa and the United States This book series is based on the premise that comparing countries around the world and getting inside information about each country's correctional system can be best derived by having people who are seasoned practitioners in each country share their views, experiences, philosophies and ideas. Since most correctional practitioners do not have the time or inclination to encapsulate their experiences into a book chapter, the insight of the practitioner can be best captured by a revealing interview with a researcher given the questions and interview guidelines associated with each chapter. Researchers selected are scholars in corrections who will possibly have conducted original research on the topic and will have access to the corrections officials in his or her country. Additionally, the researcher exhibits a deep understanding and knowledge of his or her country's correctional system and questions will be derived specifically from the laws and conditions present. Any current crises or solutions will be able to have focused questions crafted by each researcher while still having each interviewer stay within the topic areas that the general questions probe. Each researcher explains any esoteric or unusual terminology used by the corrections official and defines any current issues necessary for the reader's knowledge. While there are many books written on corrections management, ethics and practices, there is great value in approaching international corrections practices and policies from this unique vantage point and as a result, this book will be of interest to academics, researchers, practitioners and both undergraduate and postgraduate students with an interest in corrections and comparative criminal justice studies.
