Mattern,Matthew

N. Gaertner, 2017-08-22 Preparing Students for College and Careers addresses measurement and research issues related to college and career readiness. Educational reform efforts across the United States have increasingly taken aim at measuring and improving postsecondary readiness. These initiatives include developing new content standards, redesigning assessments and performance levels, legislating new developmental education policy for colleges and universities, and highlighting gaps between graduates' skills and employers' needs. In this comprehensive book, scholarship from leading experts on each of these topics is collected for assessment professionals and for education researchers interested in this new area of focus. Cross-disciplinary chapters cover the current state of research, best practices, leading interventions, and a variety of measurement concepts, including construct definitions, assessments, performance levels, score interpretations, and test uses. The Open Access version of this book, available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com>, has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license. Behavioral Science & Policy: Volume 2, Issue 1 Craig Fox, Sim B.

Sitkin, 2016-11-22 The success of nearly all public and private sector policies hinges on the behavior of individuals, groups, and organizations. Today, such behaviors are better understood than ever, thanks to a growing body of practical behavioral science research. However, policymakers often are unaware of behavioral science findings that may help them craft and execute more effective and efficient policies. The pages of this new journal will become a meeting ground, a place where scientists and non-scientists can encounter clearly described behavioral research that can be put into action. By design, the scope of BSP is broad, with topics spanning health care, financial decisionmaking, energy and the environment, education, and culture, justice, and ethics, and work place practices. Contributions will be made by researchers with expertise in psychology, sociology, law, behavioral economics, organization science, decision science, and marketing. The journal is a key offering of the Behavioral Science Policy Association in partnership with the Brookings Institution. The mission of BSPA is to foster dialog between social scientists, policymakers, and other practitioners in order to promote the application of rigorous empirical behavioral science in ways that serve the public interest. BSPA does not advance a particular agenda or political perspective. The first issue's contents follow:

- Behavioral Science Policy, vol. 2, no. 1, Table of Contents
- Editors' Note
- Spotlight: Pre-Kindergarten Interventions

Norbert Schwarz Eryn Newman William Leach Editorial Policy    The Power of Bad John Tierney, Roy F. Baumeister, 2019-12-31 From the international bestselling authors of Willpower Why does a bad impression last longer than a good one Why does losing money affect us more than gaining it What makes phobias so hard to shake The answer is the negativity bias or in other words the power of bad As John Tierney and Roy F Baumeister show we are wired to react to bad over good It makes sense in evolutionary terms but in our modern world the lure of bad is well bad It governs people's moods drives marketing and dominates our news It can explain everything from why wars start or couples divorce to why we mess up job interviews or feud with neighbours But there is good news By using smart strategies from new science we can train our brains to get better at spotting our own negativity bias fighting back with our rational minds to manage the bad in our lives and even using its power for positive results Breaking bad's hold over us can help our own lives at work and in our relationships Properly understood bad can be a good thing    The Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
